When the college was moved from Moores Hill to Evansville and the name of the College was changed to Evansville College, it was thought that it would be only right also to change the name of the yearbook (when the first one was published) from the Melange, to something more appropriate for the rejuvenated institution. After much deliberation, the name LinC was chosen. The name had several significances, and as time went on it grew to have more and more. Some of them are Life in College, and Love in College. It was also meant as part of the name

Lincoln since the college stood on Lincoln Ave., but probably the best known connotation of the word LinC is its uses as a link in the chain of years at Evansville College.

That is the story of how the LinC got its name. This yearbook is the 50th LinC in the chain of years that the University of Evansville has lived. We hope that it serves to bind the memories of all the friends of the college together in the chain forged by the rest of the LinCs. The following 15 pages are highlights of the past LinCs in the chain of years.

Lin stands for Lincoln, the avenue wide
On which fronts the campus, the field of our pride.
C means not only the College we praise —
The school we will love throughout all our days —
But Clifford, the father, a true pioneer
Who blazed out the way with a vision clear.
L in C read aright, Life in College appears,
Love in College translate it, if that suits your years.
But though C stands for College and Culture,
'tis true,
'Tis the first part of City, Community, too;
And while we LinC up each year to the past,
Forging a chain that will hold us all fast.
We mean to LinC, also, our life here in school
To life in the world — though opposed to all rule —
That we may give freely of our very best
To the city which touches our doors on the west,
And that it in its turn may teach us to know
How to serve our fellows as through life we go,
Thus of whatever phase of our College we think,
It is all to be found in one word — the LinC.

1922

Three years after Moores Hill College moved to Evansville the students, under the leadership of Ralph Olmsted, decided to record their memories. The seniors also decided to name the yearbook the LinC. The yearbook was paid for by the students selling advertisements, and it was then sold for $2.00 a copy. All the work was done by the junior class, and many of the pictures were concerned with the development stages of the school.

This was the third year for Evansville College. The college boasted of six foreign students and a grand total of 532. Tuition was $35 per quarter, and room and board was $5 a week for women.

1923

In 1923 the style of the LinC was changed from a hard cover to a soft cover, and since the faculty did not approve the publication on time, it was called The Twenty-Three of Twenty-Three. The organization of the book also changed in that the senior class put out the book this year, again with Ralph Olmsted as editor. In this volume of the LinC the 23 seniors rated themselves as the

1924

The 1924 LinC was published by the Student Government this year. It returned to its former hard cover, and because the school was getting larger and older, many more things were able to be recorded. It was the first year that Evansville College was able to boast of having a football team. And a million dollar campaign was started to raise money for the erection of new buildings.

1925

Student Government decided to amend the constitution and instituted a code of Honor System and set regulations governing Student Decorum in 1925. The girls' basketball team also contributed to the history of the college by winning the city championship. The women could be found living in Hughes Hall for women or studying and socializing in the Women's Rest Room of the Administration Building. This was also the first year for the College Orchestra.

1926

1926 brought the graduation of the first class to have done all of their work on the present Evansville campus. Until 1922, the college operated in downtown Evansville. The graduation class numbered 16. It was also the year of the first football Homecoming at Evansville College, and we won the game, defeating Hanover 6-0. A much-publicized basketball team also brought fame to Evansville this year, and we crowned Oscar Miller as May King.

The Men's Lodge and Sander's dormitory housed men, and Hughes

Hall was the dormitory for women, until the Hughes' roof burned in a fire in December, 1926. Plans were laid by the Indiana Conference of Methodist Episcopal Churches to provide funds for the expansion of Evansville College. The Engineering Department also received $10,000 for surveying equipment and the Library received $5000 to buy more books. The Indiana Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest was also held on campus this year.

1928, for men interested in basketball. Much interest was shown in this program and it was decided to continue with the games each year. The ground was broken in July 1927 for a new stadium for athletic events. The first college choir was instituted this year, with Mabel (Dillingham) Nenneker as its president. Gordon Legg, son of a professor at the College designed the seal of the College this year after several entries had been judged unacceptable. A concrete laboratory was set up in the attic of the administration building to study the composition of concrete.

1929

In 1929, the LinC was dedicated to all of the parents of those attending the college. And the Crescent took on the title as a "magazine of controversy." The paper then decided to take no stands on school issues or questions. The LinC featured an "It" section, showing those said to be "with it."

1930

The football team was able to practice longer due to the installation of lights on the football field this year, consequently all of the games were then held at night. Making first string on the basketball team was Arad McCutchan, a freshman at the college.

1931

Evansville College was elected to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1931. Arad McCutchan led the Aces basketball team in offense with a total of 122 points in 14 games, but also led the team in the number of personal fouls with 39. The thespians presented "Cradle Song," and art classes were being held in what later became the Cafeteria.

The 1932 LinC marked the tenth anniversary of the publication. In the foreward of this issue the staff said, "We enter into this the tenth annual LinC, conscious of our responsibility accurately to portray the activities that center around our college tower. It is our hope that in this theme of the tower we may have found a symbol for the beauty, the aspiration, and the strength that we have found within these walls. May we have built in this book a monument that shall endure, recalling always the memories of this college year." James E. Morlock joined the faculty in September, 1931.

1933

Captain Arad McCutchan led the Aces to a 12-6 basketball record in 1933. Cheerleaders were also chosen to instill more spirit in the Evansville College fans. Student Government was revamped, and a new organization appeared - The Student - Faculty Federation. The seniors were evaluated by President Harper and three of the deans to select the campus leaders. Among them was Mable (Dillingham) Nenneker.

1934

The Student - Faculty Federation was in its second year in 1934. This organization was a successor to Student Government, and was regarded by the faculty and students as one of the most helpful developments at Evansville College. It consisted of an Administrative Board of eight committees which served as a board of review and appeal. The class of '34 also graduated Arad McCutchan

1935

1935 brought the first season for the Evansville Philharmonic orchestra, of which there were 60 members. The basketball team was able to boast of a new average of 31.1 points per game. And the freshman class enrollment doubled. The first work - study program then called the National Youth Administration, was instituted in this year for students on campus.

1936

In 1936 Evansville College enjoyed its first season as a member of the Indiana Inter-Collegiate Conference and posted an 8-5 record in football. It was also the first time that radio programs were broadcast from the college over station WGBF. Their first show was aired on Friday, March 20.

1937

The LinC ran contests to get candid shots for the yearbook in 1937. The Campus Eat Shop was also opened in this year. Many students were also featured in pictures for advertisements, to help finance the book. Highlighting the book were several pictures of the devastation caused by the flood of 1937. And not so devastating, but charming was the picture of Virginia (Robinson) McCutchan in the personality section.

lege. Breaking the adamant law of averages, the Aces failed to score a single point all season. Successful they were, however, in crowning the first Homecoming Queen in 1938, Miss Cecile Hovda. A new binding was also used for the 1938 LinC with the staff employing a spiral notebook form.

1939

The 1939 LinC emphasized four aspects of life at Evansville College; inter-related yet distinct: academic ... extra curricular ... athletic ... social. In representing the college they said, "A beautiful campus ... an efficient administration ... an excellent faculty ... a small but purposeful student body ... we give you the College."

1940

In the 1940 LinC the students were guided through the pages by Pinocchio. The school was building a new leader on campus in the form of Vance Hartke, and the faculty pictures were the work of artist Frank Butler. The college began training pilots under the civilian Aeronautics Administration, and the EC Flying Club was active.

1941

The first classes of the Evening College were held at Evansville College in September of this school year. The cover of the LinC featured Vance Hartke, president of Student Government Association, walking hand-in-hand with a young lady. Vance Hartke was a senior this year and graduated with an A.B. in Business Administration.

had a new president in this school year. Lincoln B. Hale served as acting president in 1940, and named president in June 1941. A new fraternity was founded on the campus, Kappa Lambda Rho. Scores of students began leaving for the armed services. The basketball team was playing its games at the Armory.

1943

Because of the impact of World War II on campuses and nationwide, the LinC added a new section to the book — Military Life on Campus. The War also affected the sports program at Evansville College in 1943. Only 15 men went out for the football team, and by the end of the season this number had dwindled down to 12. In fact, they even had to draft the student manager.

1944

Evansville College suffered a tremendous drop in enrollment due to the war in 1944, the school also started the new V-5 training program for pilots for the Navy. There were many dedications on campus to the servicemen— among them was the dedication of the LinC.

1945

On November 24, 1944, a stone was set to dedicate the site of the $700,000 Engineering and Science Building amid the screaming of the diving P-47 fighter planes and the drone of the slower army trainers. The ceremony was broadcast over radio directly from the campus.

1946

The College had a record enrollment of 660 students in 1946. Women students found it a delight to have more men on campus since the war had ended. Twenty-two reported for the first basketball practice of the year. Finally, construction was started on the new Engineering and Science Building in November, 1945, and Don Ping was named head football coach.

1947

The style of the LinC changed again this year with the staff deciding on a larger format, 9 by 12 inches. Governor Gates was on campus in September, 1946, for United Nations Day and the dedication of the college as a memorial to World War II veterans.

Veteran housing was offered to married veterans and their families at College Courts, units which were situated on Rotherwood. A 70-piece band was formed and made its first appearance at the Murray State football game under the direction of Wesley Shepard. We saluted Bob Hawkins, selected as All-American by the Associated Press for his outstanding football ability.

1948

The year started with the largest staff in the history of the college, with 31 new appointments bringing the total to 106. The LinC also reported the formation of seven new organizations on campus this year to accommodate diversified student interests. The expanding sports program included teams in football, basketball, baseball, track, golf and tennis.

1949

The first sorority facility was opened in 1949. A room downtown was rented by the Castilians, a literary society which has now become the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Sigma Alpha Iota, a women's music honorary was also started this year. The football team played in the Refrigerator Bowl, and the baseball team was named Ohio Valley Champs.

1950

The traditional cover of the LinC was altered in 1950 to one similar to a Life magazine cover, with LinC Queen Jeanne Shirk getting front coverage. The college offered a program through which graduates of three-year hospital training could obtain B.S. degrees. Beta Sigma Omicron was the first social sorority to become national. Acacia became the first fraternity to have a house, in October, 1949, at 1717 Lincoln Avenue.

1951

The college radio station was first begun in 1951 and was named WEVC. Majorettes were also chosen to provide entertainment at the inter-collegiate football games. Women's sports were revived on a small scale, and the varsity basketball team posted a season record of 23 wins and 7 losses. Chi Omega and Alpha Omicron Pi were new national sororities on campus. The Union Building was completed in January 1951.

1952

The 1952 edition of the LinC was entitled "The Dutch Door Edition" and was presented in a loose leaf cover. The Inter-Fraternity Council was organized, and Phi Mu sorority was established locally. The graduating class included Thornton B. Patberg. ROTC was initiated on campus in September, 1951.

was selected, she was Miss Joanne Moore. Dad's Day was held in the Great Hall with a banquet, complete with cigarette girls, to honor winner Don Folz. Musical groups were active, and now-famous saxophonist Roger Pemberton headed the Philo band.

The college was 100 years old this year, since the founding at Moores Hill, Indiana, and move in 1919 to Evansville. A banquet and special speakers highlighted the month of January. The basketball team won the ICC crown under the coaching of Arad McCutchan and Paul Beck. The EC School of Nursing organized in September, 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. Red Feather, Danny Stiles and Phyllis Bunge, won the Community Chest Drive. Each won by accumulating the greatest number of pennies in the jars provided by the Union Board. Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity was founded locally and Paul Beck was named head football coach. Kampus Kapers, forerunner of Musical Madness, was won by Chi Omega and Psi Epsilon Phi.

Dr. Melvin Hyde was inaugurated as the fifth president of Evansville College November, 1955. The enrollment was then up to 1175 students. A new parking lot was opened behind the Athletic Department Offices. The ICC Crown was shared by the football team and the basketball team won its third consecutive ICC crown. #### 1957

On March 19, 1957, the Clifford Memorial Library was dedicated on the Evansville Campus. The Aces basketball team received a berth in the NCAA semifinals. Among political visitors on campus were Vice-President Richard Nixon and his wife.

1958

The Philo fraternity became national in 1957 and is now Sigma Alpha Epsilon. They became the 141st chapter in the country. Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity also became national, as the Zeta Beta chapter. This year the Aces basketball team finished third in the NCAA college division.

1959

The first residence hall, Hughes Hall, was opened on campus in September 1958. For the first two years, it was occupied by women. The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity sponsored a basketball tourney for the chapters in Indiana, and was defeated by the Purdue chapter 54-53 in the first game.

1960

The 1960 LinC was dedicated to Coach Arad McCutchan, who led the Aces to national victory on March 13, 1959. The first section of the book was a review of activities after deadlines in February by the '58-'59 staff. Full page pictures of star cagers were used to display the championship team. The Sports section also included pictures of the team winning the 1960 title. The team was the first to win the championship two years in succession.

1961

Another residence hall was dedicated in October, 1960, this one being Moore Hall. At this time men were moved into Hughes and the women were transferred to Moore. Presidential candidates Richard Nixon and John Kennedy were greeted by E.C. students. The LinC featured a color picture of the campus, and deans of men and women, respectively were Dr. James Morlock and Dr. Virginia Grabill.

1962

For the first time in Evansville College history the basketball team was able to register a win over a Big Ten power at Robert's Stadium, defeating Iowa 65-59. The LinC featured a section on life in the dorms, with the addition of two dorms to the campus now. And Linda Campbell was selected Miss Watermelon Bust.

1963

The 1963 LinC was illustrated with artwork by future U of E art professor, senior Jerry Points. And as editors and printers may fumble, the LinC made a big one. Under the color picture of President Melvin W. Hyde, appeared the name, "Dr. Nicholas C. Brown, Dean of the College;" Under Brown's picture was "Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, President." Carson Center was dedicated in November, 1962 along with Wheeler and Krannert Fine Arts Building. Together these two buildings cost $2,000,000, which was raised in a fund drive in 1961.

The LinC staff dedicated the 1964 book to Business Manager Ralph Olmsted. It also marked the first year for a spring week. During this week, Lambda Chi Alpha won the "Big 39 Bike Race" and Miss Vicki Brown became the first Miss Evansville College. North and south wings were added to Moore Hall a cost of $550,000. The Aces won the NCAA basketball championship under the leadership of Jerry Sloan. It was the first year for the swim team to compete in the ICC, and Zeta Tau Alpha was started locally.

1965

Kicking off the 1965 Spring Weekend were the voices of Peter, Paul and Mary, and Lambda Chi Alpha won the second annual bike race. The year was also an election year and several politicians made their way to the campus. Those politicians were: Hubert H. Humphrey, William Scranton, Vance Hartke (graduate of Evansville College 1941) and Birch Bayh. Earl McCurdy was elected SGA president, and in the Fall of 1964 ground was broken for the $400,000 Neu Chapel. Harper Residence Dining Center was dedicated on Oct. 20.

1966

In 1966 the enrollment jumped up to 2772 students. Jerry Linzy was elected the president of SGA and the Aces shared the ICC crown in basketball. Larry Humes was selected as an All-American by the votes of the National Basketball Association of Scouts, and the swim team won the ICC crown. The SAE's sponsored a blood-in and successfully sent 197 pints of blood to the wounded in Viet Nam. We graduated 400

1967

In 1967 the Indiana Legislature, passed an act amending the college charter to read the University of Evansville. The school received University status 113 years after it had been started. Students moved into the new women's dorm Brentano Hall and Hale Hall, the men's dorm. Hyde Hall was also completed for use during winter quarter. These three buildings were air conditioned. The first President's Ball was sponsored by Union Board this year.

1968 brought the inauguration of a new president of the college, Dr. Wallace B. Graves, whose term began in August, 1967. A new national social fraternity was placed on campus, The Delta Beta chapter of Phi Kappa Tau. And the Lambda Chi's moved into their new $1,000,000 house on Weinbach Avenue. Lynn Butler was chosen the first Miss University of Evansville.

Now bigger and better than in years before, the LinC covered the entire school year's events and was delivered in the fall. This year's LinC used a literary theme to make the student think about his life here at the U of E. This year the Lambda Chi Alpha bike team just couldn't

The drama department surprised many people with their production of "The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as performed by The Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton under the direction of the Marquis de Sade." The largest class to graduate to date numbered 732.

1970

This year the LinC staff added sixteen full color pages to the yearbook covering personalities, the campus, Homecoming, Jose Feliciano and the Union functions. Still growing along with the campus, the LinC grew to 240 pages. This book presented the year's events in chronological order.

The LinC covered events such as Homecoming, the award-winning "Imaginary Invalid" and performance in Washington, D.C., Dionne Warwick's Valentine Day Concert and the 1971 NCAA Basketball Champions. This was the fifth national championship for the Aces. Other coverage portrayed anti-war protests, Musical Madness and the U.S.O. show, plans for the English campus, the Pops Concert, and the irrepressible wit of the Crescent cartoon character, 2-S.

P. O. BOX 329, EVANSVILLE, INDIANA 47701

The University's LinC has reached the half century mark, and over the years it has earned our great respect and appreciation. These volumes are a treasury of memories of the college days of the thousands of people who have lived and learned for a time on the University's campus. Taken together these volumes in a very special and vital way reveal the history and evolving character of an educational institution.

Anniversaries customarily are the occasions for looking forward as well as for reminiscing. Americans have been forward-looking people, uniquely so in the world of peoples. These days looking into the future has lost much of its excitement and bright promise. So many who are doing it today bring us bad tidings and leave us frightened, confused, hopeless.

In spite of this pessimism and the enormous difficulty of prediction in fast changing times like these, the view of the decade ahead from the campus of the University of Evansville has, I think, some very good and promising features. During the next ten years the University will develop a variety of learning systems so that each student can have the intellectual environment and learning process which best suits his personality and intellectual style. The curriculum will be more inter-disciplinary, more problem oriented, and to a large extent structured according to the needs, interests, and desires of each student.

A much more comprehensive and flexible system of continuing education will be available to people of all ages and of different interests. Education will be considered much more as a lifelong undertaking by our society with people entering and exiting from the University at various times in their lives. Continuing education will accommodate not only those interested in earning associate, baccalaureate, and graduate degrees but also those seeking to broaden their intellects, develop and sharpen their skills, and improve their vocational capacities with or without concern for academic credit.

Much more attention will be given by the University for knowledge and skills acquired in other places and by other means than those provided by the University. Methods will be devised by which such experiences can be evaluated in terms of academic credit. Off campus learning experiences will be built into the formal academic system. Students will have far more responsibility together with freedom to be their own teachers and to teach each other. Faculty members will be able to act more as counselors, resource people, and learning supervisors than is common today.

In short, learning will become more exciting, personally meaningful, and socially useful in the future. College yearbooks will probably be issued in looseleaf form in the future in order to record significant events in the lives of people who continue to use the University throughout their lives to grow in usefulness and self-fulfillment. The world with all its threats and problems and all the people in it will certainly be better for all of this.

Frosh Find First Week . . .

A Rush of Activities

The freshman class arrived at the University of Evansville from all over the country to enter a brand new world — college. Not knowing what to expect, they hovered together thinking that they would find security together.

But college turned out to be a pretty good thing as various activities were planned to orient the new students. President Graves was introduced at the President's Convocation and later met the students at a reception. Union Board played their part by organizing Campus Chatter, which enabled the students to get a chance to talk to the campus leaders. And an organizations fair was also held in the Union to interest students to sign up for the various activities and groups offered at the U of E.

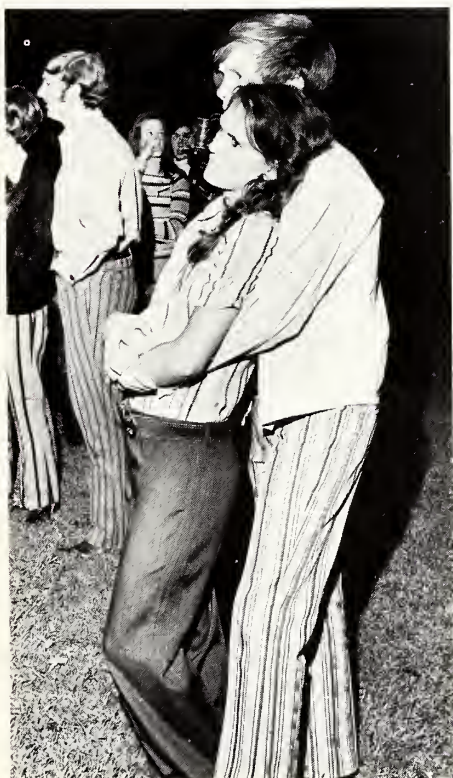

The freshman class arrived before school to participate in RUSH.

The sorority suites in Moore Hall were busy with parties with a central theme to entice the prospective freshman women. The Phi Mu's decided on a cowgirl theme, the AOPi's a luau theme, the Chi O's had a Mary Poppins party, and the ZTA's party was in a world of toys.

Meanwhile, the fraternities were also busy with their newly acquired policy of "open rush." To start the activities, the TKE's held their annual lawn party where the new sorority pledges were introduced. The Phi Tau's also contributed with their Road Rally and "Out In The Country Party." The Sig Ep's had their A Go-Go, which was another big hit as sorority pledges danced their way to a first place trophy on the roof of the fraternity house. The Lambda Chi's again held their Watermelon Bust where Jeannie Runyon fit the form. And the SAE's held their Luau to complete the fraternity's rush activities for 1971.

Frosh Oriented to Greek Social Life

Commuters

The commuters or "townies" at the University of Evansville are a different breed of people. They are usually on campus from 9-3, for it's awfully hard to schedule classes that will fall together.

Those who are dormies are considered to be lucky by some, for they can usually go to their rooms or pass their time in the rec rooms of the dorm.

Relax After Long Day on Campus

Commuters Pass Time of Day in Union

Those who are not dormies must rely on the library or the Indian to help them pass the time of day.

But when class begins, students are students, and there is no discrimination between the "townies" and "dormies."

When the freshman class arrived at school in September they went to Carson Center to nominate candidates for Icebreaker Queen.

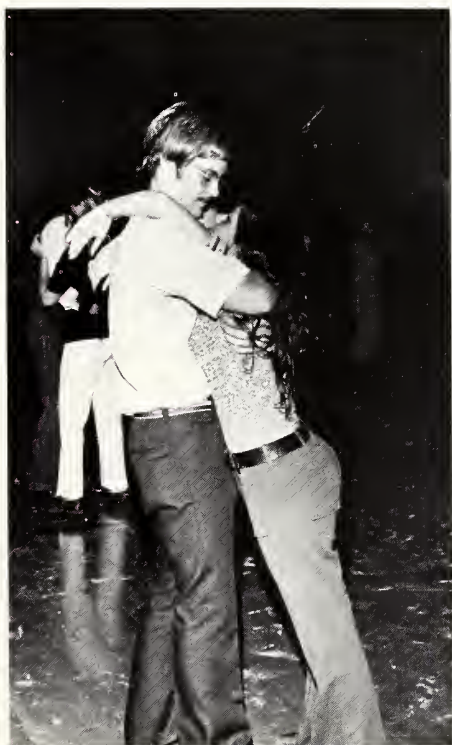

The balloting for the queen was conducted at the dance, which was held at Carson Center on October 15. Jackie Snyder, last year's queen, crowned Tish Gill, a business major from Albany, Indiana, as the 1972 Icebreaker Queen.

Other girls nominated were Bev Knight, Leanne Simon, Chris Kasper, Georgia Baugh, Terry Wood, Debbie Jones, Gretchen Bettinger, and Kim Johnson.

One of the most important things, it's been a year where we've all accepted that what we'll get out of it, will be what we put into it.

I've met people over here from all walks of life. This happens when you live in a dorm, but living here you become even closer. You must reach out. Everyone here feels close, like one big family. There are a lot of people we're close to here that we probably wouldn't even have talked to back on the home campus. I've learned that people have something in common with everyone.

There are 1,000 good things about Harlaxton. It has given us the opportunity to travel and see things, which has broadened our minds. I now appreciate things back home more. It's been good to be separated from the States — to help me realize what's important to me. I'll have a totally different outlook when I go home.

Traveling on the continent forced us to do things we normally wouldn't take the initiative to do. I've learned more about myself this year than I've learned in my whole life. We've found out that we can do things we never thought we could.

I realize that the world is a small place and that the majority of people throughout the world have the same needs and wants.

The year has seen faults and flaws, but it's been very smooth. The good immensely outweigh the bad. If anyone has a negative attitude about Harlaxton, the reason is within them.

I would like to have seen the manor more on a one-to-one basis, (students-tutors).

I would like to have seen the living conditions livable.

I've felt a lot of freedom, and I wouldn't advise people who aren't mature enough to control their lives to come over. One must be responsible, because Harlaxton stimulates spiritual and mental growth.

It is depressing to stay in the same building for a week and not see the sun. If I'd have brought enough cigarettes and beer to last the year, I could have stayed the year without going outside.

I enjoyed traveling, but there's no place like home.

There's definitely a lack of student organization. We need unification instead of cliques. Encouragement is needed to get to know everyone.

Being able to be satisfied with my own life and with the U.S. has been what I've gained from being over here. It has a lot of drawbacks but I will definitely look at it as a positive experience with positive growth.

To anyone, I would say, it will do you a hell of a lot of good to come.

Harlaxton Manor

If you can take the challenge the University of Evansville is ready to provide the adventure. The challenge — is to become a student with an awareness of the world around him.

The risks are few and hardly worth mentioning but the gains are greater than you'd ever expect.

Students and prospective students at the University of Evansville have the opportunity to study abroad at the Foreign Study Centre at Harlaston Manor located in Grantham, England.

With an emphasis on informal learning, the Foreign Study Centre offers the student a chance to experience the total learning process. The atmosphere at Harlaston enhances the student's perceptions, and over these perceptions form the basis for casual discussion. These discussions sometimes lead to more vigorous education processes than could be achieved from total classroom learning.

The students generate a free spirit at Harlaxton. The relaxed condition makes it easy to become close friends and become a part of an educational process together.

Each student is respected and granted his freedom to think, act and perform as he so chooses.

If not studying, students can be found playing basketball, croquet on the lawn, eating in the cafeteria, shopping in downtown Grantham or they can be found chattering around with the tutors and staff.

Relaxed, but inspiring, the challenge becomes even more rewarding in this atmosphere.

The Manor

The most intriguing aspect of the challenge offered by the Foreign Study Centre, is the student's exploration and life in the manor itself.

Harlaxton Manor is a Gothic style mansion built in the 17th century by Gregory Gregory. With its 100 rooms, the manor provides the student with a seemingly never ending adventure. The manor has secret passageways, doors which disappear when closed, and remnants of old catacombs from the time when monks maintained the 55-acre estate.

Period paintings and sculpture line the walls and corridors of the manor and are reminiscent of the culture and life of the families housed in its framework, long ago.

The People

The challenge of being away from home, so far away, seems to dominate the students' minds for the first couple of days. There you are, in a strange manor, in a strange town, in a strange country.

But soon, you find that you aren't the only person who has been thinking the same things. And suddenly, the loneliness and the despair doesn't seem to be that important any longer.

Now you have conquered one of the few challenges that has seemed to be the hardest. You find that the strange manor is home, that the townspeople are the greatest people you've ever met and that the country you once called strange is the one country that you have to bid good-bye.

A Dedication

Formally accepting its role as a challenger, the University dedicated its Foreign Study Centre on November 27, 1971.

The British campus was host to local friends of the students and tutors from the Nottingham and Grantham areas, to a delegation of friends and relatives from the United States and to U.S. Representative Edith Green, who gave the dedicating address.

In her speech, Mrs. Green noted that the University of Evansville became a leader and a pioneer in education with its institution of a foreign campus. She stated, "The University of Evansville is, by the best count we can find, the fifteenth American university to establish a campus abroad."

The Travel

Grantham is home base for the eighty-some students that converge on Harlaxton in the fall. Yet it doesn't remain so throughout the entire year. Harlaxton's four-day class week makes the weekends seem like weekly holidays to the student who can afford it.

London, only 110 miles away, becomes the most frequent stop for the adventurous travellers.

Stratford becomes a peaceful place to get away from it all.

And there are others — Oxford, Dublin, Paris, Madrid and many more — which all seemed to be such exotic and faraway places to the student just a few short months ago.

It's been the best of times and the worst of times.

The most important thing that has happened to me living here is that I've found out what the Midwest is like. It is very much different from the two coasts, not worse or better.

Academically, most of the students aren't interested enough. The tutors have been conscientious and put a lot of work into it. The kids don't have the same devotion and love as they do, and this is a shame. Compared to the work the tutors put in, the students don't match it. I think the tutors had a different view of what the American students would be like. The tutors have done a very good job.

If you don't have a car you're severely hampered in getting into the community. Main integration with the English has been through the pubs.

Being in a place like this, cut off from the community (since classes and everything are in one building), forces you to get along or else. It's hard to shut yourself off from people you are forced to live with. You have to make do with what you have, like on a ship. I've felt kind of shut in. The kids have placed more emphasis on rumors and what's going on with other people, than on the important things. Private lives shouldn't be the concern of others.

Students who are coming over shouldn't think that because they'll be studying in a big manor house they'll be living in luxury.

As far as learning, it's been one of the best experiences I've ever had. One good advantage is the more personal teacher-student relationship. I've had good experience in writing papers and being able to talk with the tutors gives a lot of insight. The small group tutorials were really beneficial, and less tests with more papers to write were a good experience and gave me a good foundation.

But Harlaxton is not the true social university experience. The fact that we were isolated was one of my major disappointments. Harlaxton was too much like a "home" where we could stay inside for three days and think nothing of it. There's not much interaction between students and kids our age from Grant-ham. We need to have more functions with the English people.

The administration has a lot going for it and can really come around in the next few years. Whether the students and the administration will work hand in hand, will make or break this place. It could be used as an ego trip for U of E, and a large amount of improvement needs to take place to give Harlaxton a university atmosphere. The administration needs to try and look at this from the students' point of view. We should be given the say in making judgment as to what should be done instead of making us abide by campus regulations.

Realistically, Harlaxton is more a social experience than academic. I feel that if they strive to enhance the social atmosphere, we'll enhance the academic atmosphere.

The travel opportunities were planned well. The four-day week gave us enough time, plus the five-week break over Christmas.

I would say that anyone who came over here couldn't help but enjoy it. If people would just get their "stuff" together this can be a real gold mine as far as enhancing what this place is—social experience, educating and taking advantage of foreign interaction.

One Crimson Travelogue Gave Debut Performance

An "easy rock" group, One Crimson Travelogue, was formed on campus this year. Under the direction of Mr. James Bennett, and Mr. Paul Dove, who handled the vocals, the group's purpose was to encourage high school students to attend college.

Auditions for the group were held last spring, and when the students returned to school, practices began. Their first performance was held at Harper's and from there they played in Evansville and surrounding areas.

The group is composed of four non-music majors: Judy Roberts, Karen Daily, Jeanette Brewster, and Lyle Daniels, and six music majors: Lynn Daniels, Roger Clark, Kim Fillingim, Jim Johnson, Ray MacLean and Wayne Thomas.

The group is sponsored by the Alumni Association and the Admissions Office.

The winner of the 1971 Dad's Day Award went to Mr. Harold Forche of Evansville, father of Mike Forche, a junior football standout.

Mr. Forche received his award at the Evansville vs. Indiana State football game on September 25 at Reitz Bowl.

The Dad's Day events featured Jeanette Brewster, singing "The Star Spangled Banner," and a half-time show with the U of E band, and pom pom girls.

Mr. Arad McCutchan presented Mr. Forche with the trophy after the members of the football team voted him as "The Dad of the Year."

A reception for the parents of the members of the football team followed at the Inferno.

Mary Prince Reigns Over Homecoming Events

Among the highlights of Homecoming Week was the crowning of AOPi's Mary Prince as Queen with first runner-up Linda McDonald and other candidates Jackie Snyder, Cindy Robson, Nancy Oltman, Donna Longest, and Barb Hoff watching; first place displays by Moore Hall, the Engineering Club and AOPi; and a halftime show at the football game featuring the band and a newly-formed group of some 30 girls called the Acettes; and the beating of Butler.

4200 fans witnessed the Aces football team contribute a win to the Homecoming festivities by a score of 21-8 over the Butler Bulldogs at Reitz Bowl. The game was dedicated to Paul (Boomer) Beck, former physical education teacher and football coach.

Honors to

Moore Hall, Engineers

Sparked by the Union Board's Spirit Week, Homecoming 1972 proved to be a big success. TKE received a first place trophy for their dramatic blanket throw, the Phi Mu's and Hughes Hall placed second, and AOPi followed with a third. Special awards were presented to Hale Hall for being the most "unorthodox" in staging a panty raid, and to Moore Hall for their "bravery" in climbing trees to display their candidate's name for Homecoming Queen.

On Saturday night, a dance was held at Carson Center to honor the Homecoming Queen, Mary Prince and to celebrate the football victory.

It was truly the year of the quarterback. Although the Purple Aces fell to third place in the final conference standings, with an overall record of 3-6, quarterback Randy Mattingly rewrote the record books with his performance. With one year remaining to play, Mattingly holds school records for total offense for a single game (351 yards), season yardage (2200), season passing yardage (2120), pass attempts (319), and season completions (149). For the year, Mattingly stood second in the nation in total offense and second in passing. All in all, he was the bright spot in an otherwise disappointing season.

The year began on a bright note as the Aces beat Indiana Central, newcomer to the Indiana Collegiate Conference, by a score of 33-21. Mattingly and receiver Dave Scheu teamed up for 151 yards total offense and two touchdowns. Highlighting the game was a 33 yard touchdown run up the middle by Mark Freeman.

The sweet taste of victory was soon forgotten, though. The Aces were to lose their next four games. Indiana State, Southeast Missouri, Valparaiso, and Eastern Illinois would be the victors.

The Indiana State Sycamores were in command all the way as they got off to a 21-0 halftime lead. The Aces fought back gallantly, never giving up. They got on the scoreboard in the second half with Mattingly touchdown passes to Jim Gilcrest and Tony Schafer, but the Sycamores held on to win.

Southeast Missouri's hard-charging defensive line was a prime factor in coach Jim Byers troop's next setback. The Aces managed only 101 yards rushing and Mattingly spent most of the time running for his life. The 14-6 setback put the Purple's season record at 1-2.

Against Valpo, the Aces rallied for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter but again fell short of victory, 30-27. They stormed back from a 30-6 deficit on TD passes from Mattingly to Bob Clayton, Dave Scheu, and Don Wardell. With 24 seconds left in the game, The Aces were still knocking at the door of victory with another scoring drive, but Valpo's Tim Hartner snagged an errant Mattingly pass to close the door.

It was a battle of quarterbacks when the Aces went up against Eastern Illinois. Heading Eastern's offensive attack was Ron Gustafson, heralded as one of the best passers in college football. Mattingly lost in head-to-head confrontation with Gustafson. Although both quarterbacks did well, the final score of the game was Eastern Illinois 19, Evansville 14.

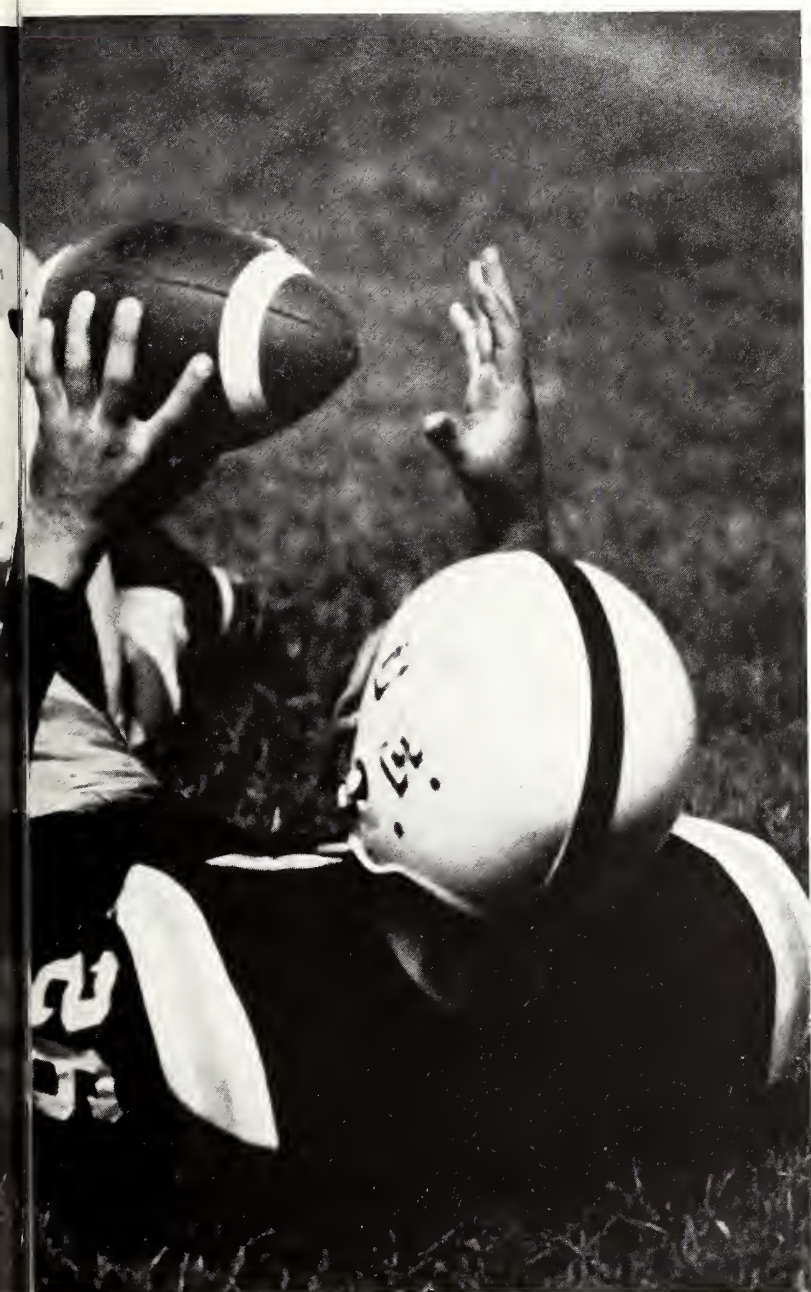

Things got better, though. The Purples journeyed to Greencastle for a Saturday afternoon encounter with the Tigers of DePauw. The Tigers were very accommodating and the Aces won 21-10. In the contest, Mattingly passed for 303 yards to break a record previously held by all-time Aces standout Craig Blackford. Scoring for the Aces came from Bob DeLuca on a one yard run, and from Dave Scheu who caught two TD passes of 47 and 4 yards.

Homecoming '71 saw the troops put together their second win in a row as they trounced Butler 21-8 before a crowd of 4200 at Reitz Bowl. The Aces pulled their record to 3-4 with a balanced ground and air attack. Mattingly capped an 80-yard drive with a 15-yard scoring run to give the Aces their first score. A 47-yard aerial to Jack Gangstad made it 14-0 at half-time. The teams traded touchdowns in the final period with Butler making a two-point conversion to make the final score 21-8. Prior to the game, the Aces announced that it was dedicated to Paul Beck, former football coach at Evansville who was in the hospital recovering from illness.

Possessing a 2-1 conference record, the Aces traveled to St. Joseph's to meet the Pumas. The winner of the game would be the conference champion. Biting cold and a driving wind nullified the usually brilliant passing game of the Aces and they dropped a close one, 7-3. The only score the Evansville eleven could muster was a 35-yard field goal by Bob Hawkins.

The year wound up with a sound 38-12 thrashing at the hands of the Murray State Racers. Although their season record stood at 3-5 going into the contest, the Aces had been playing exciting football, so a large crowd was on hand. The Racers racked up a staggering 608 yards total offense in the game which included a hefty 423 on the ground. Fans were treated to seeing Mattingly break even more records in the contest, though. He completed 22 of 44 passes for 286 yards. That gave him 151 completions for the year. Craig Blackford had previously held the record with 144 completions.

Randy also broke Greg Hoffman's punting record set in 1968 of 40.5 yards per boot. Mattingly finished the year with a 41.7 average.

Cross Country '72

"It's attracting more interest." Those are the words Coach Schleicher uses about the cross-country squad. When it was first originated, the cross-country program was primarily to keep the track team's distance runners in shape during the fall.

This year's team finished the year with a respectable 5-win, 4-loss record. The runners do not receive financial aid, but the runners they compete against do. Leading the team this year were freshman Steve Sakel, sophomore Chuck Cooksey, and junior James McClain.

Carpenters . . .

The Carpenters are the creators of the "now sound." Playing before a capacity crowd of 13,000 people at Robert's Stadium, they completely captivated their audience to wrap up 10-day-long Homecoming activities.

Karen and Richard Carpenter did not disappoint their Evansville audience for they sang of hope, happiness and harmony, for which they are well-known. And as usual with a concert by the Carpenters, they did not adhere to the popular songs most commonly known to their audience.

From the time they walked on stage, Karen and Richard had their audience awed. Such popular songs as "We've Only Just Begun," "Superstar," "Rainy Days and Mondays," and "Close To You" were done to perfection and brought a hush to the stadium for fear that the audience might miss a note. They are also capable of producing such older songs as "Cinderella, Rockefeller," which is their way of saying that they are caught up in their own musical counter-revolution.

The Carpenters were a welcome delight to all of Evansville, and to the students of the University of Evansville, who composed a large part of the audience.

Indian Changed...

Paneled and repainted, with antique-ish captains' chairs on the floor and lanterns hanging above the booths, the Wooden Indian's looks changed over the summer.

The Wooden Indian provides a place for the separate worlds of the townie and dormie to converge. There is no sign from which world the student comes, as the Indian is the place to meet between classes. Whether it is just to "shoot the bull," or grab something to eat, the Indian is never without the steady drone of the students' voices.

The Indian provides not only a place to meet, but also for card games, ping-pong, pool or a snack. It has also been opened on weekends to provide entertaining movies and folk-singing for those on campus.

Separate entrance lines now enable the student to purchase a cup of coffee or a soft drink without having to wait in the food line. The Indian is now partly a self-service snack bar catering to the busy student.

Into New Tepee!

The rock group, "Chase" highlighted the annual winter week. The leader of the group, Bill Chase, who also plays the trumpet, proved to be a talented musician as leader of the four trumpet section. The group's versatility was shown in their playing wide range of jazz to hard rock.

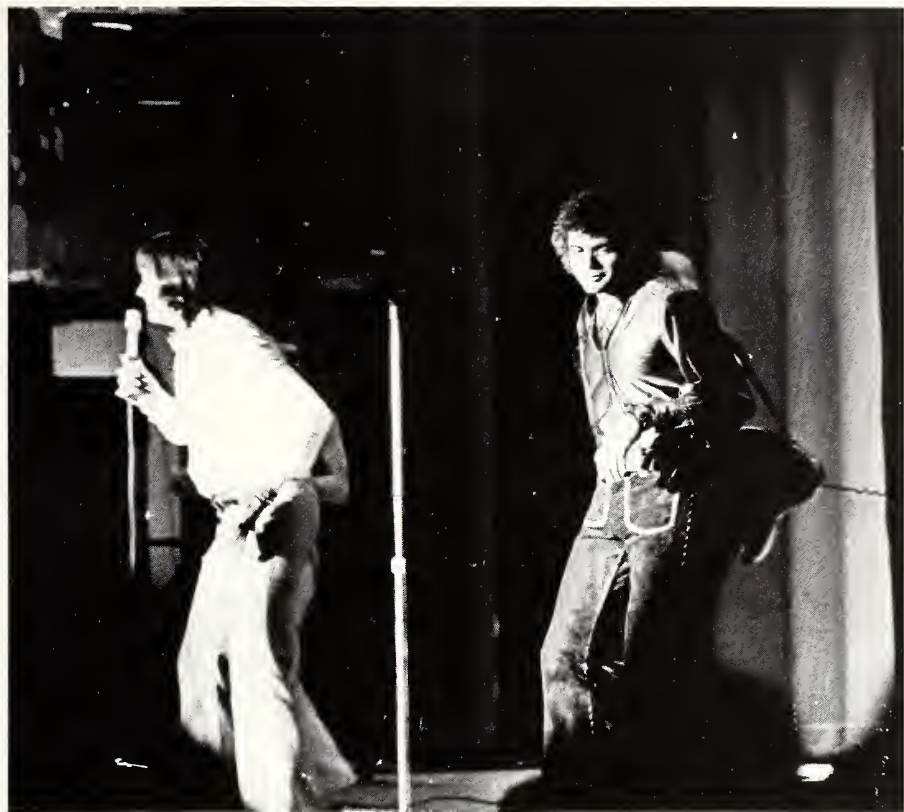

Among the songs performed were "Get It On," "So Many People," and "Open Wide." These songs are well-known hits, to which "Chase" is able to attribute their success.

"Chase" has also served as a back up group for such personalities as the late Janis Joplin and Bobbie Gentry.

Although a relatively small crowd of 900 people attended the concert held at the Vanderburgh Auditorium, those who did attend truly enjoyed the sounds of "Chase."

"Chase" Highlights 1972 Winter Weekend

Three Day Pops Wows Largest Crowd

For the first time the Pops Concert was staged for three nights instead of two. Pop tunes echoed through Shanklin Theatre on January 14, 15, and 16 as two University music organizations combined for their popular music concert, "Enter the Young."

Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, professional fraternities for women and men staged the annual pops concert to raise money for music scholarships.

Brenda Smith soloed with "I Don't Know How to Love Him" from "Jesus Christ Superstar," and Betsy Mateer did "Funny Girl's" "Don't Rain on My Parade."

Mike Douglas and the concert chorus presented the religious pop tune, "O Happy Day," and the entire chorus opened the show with "Open a New Window."

"Enter the Young" included the title song, tunes from the "Superstar" production, and popular tunes like the Blood, Sweat and Tears' "You Made Me So Very Happy". It played to the largest crowd yet.

A Special Season

Winter on the University of Evansville campus is short.

It arrives when the students have returned from Christmas vacation and stays until the middle of February. But in that short month and a half, the students make the most of the scarce snow and cold weather.

When the snow falls the students flock outside and are most apt to have snowball fights. But after they tire of this activity, the campus becomes a quiet haven for those who enjoy taking walks and enjoy observing the beautiful scenes.

Students make the most of the short time the snow lays upon the ground. And the winter they have has become a special season to them.

JD, Sandy Crowned U of E Royalty '72

January 15 we crowned the Basketball Queen and Bachelor of the Year. Selected from candidates Debbie Dudley, Moore; Karen Daily, AOPi; Lori Robertson, Brentano; Jenny Maier, ZTA; Debbie Haines, Phi Mu; and Nancy Wright, ChiO was Miss Sandy Grossheim, representing New Unit.

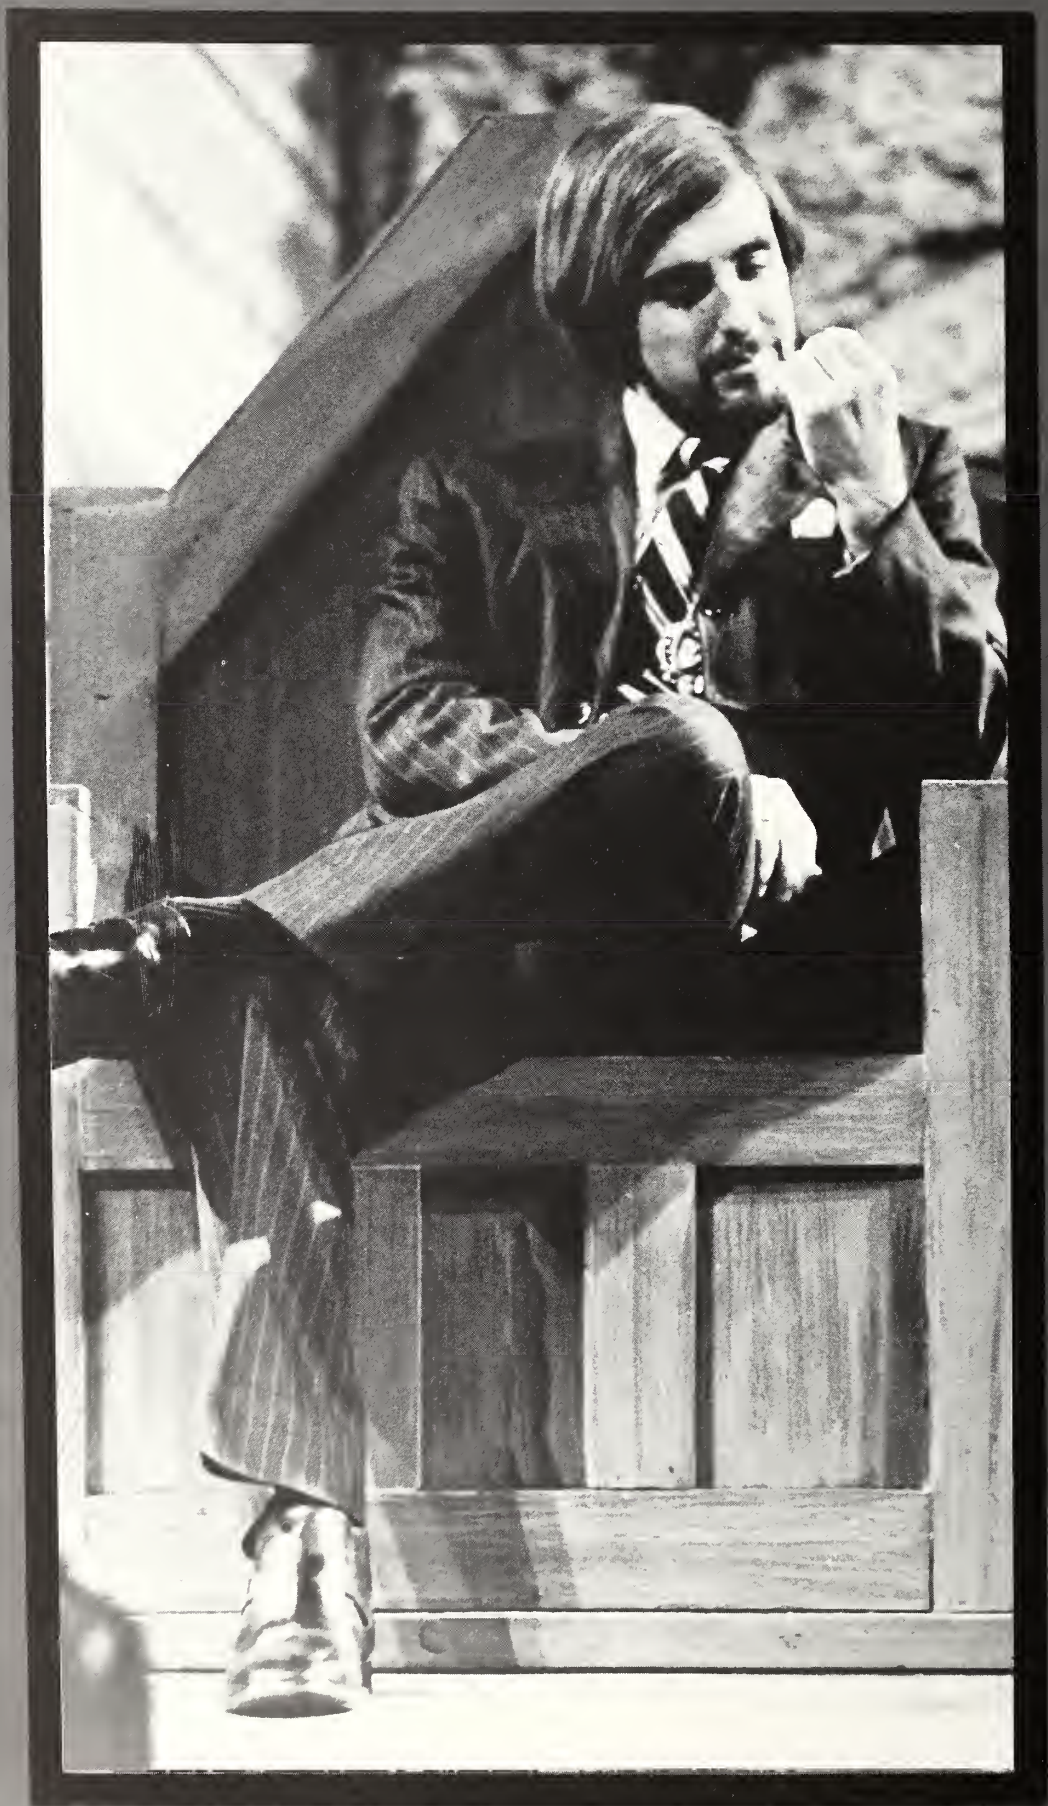

The Bachelor of the Year, Jon David LeClere, A Teke, was selected from among candidates Randy Mattingly, Hale Hall; Keith Kutzler, Hughes Hall; Rob Hons, Phi Tau; JD Jergens, Sig Ep; Rick Fulmer, Lambda Chi; Mark Miller, SAE; and Greg Combs, XGI.

Crowning Miss Grossheim was Joe White, the president of the Student Association, with Susan Utterback awarding JD LeClere the traditional black top hat.

Two organizations contributed to the evening: the Acettes with their halftime show, and the Aces basketball team who registered a win over Philadelphia Textile 97-81 to climax the evening.

Henry IV

The third production produced by the University's Theatre Department was Henry IV.

The story was about a madman, who for the past 20 years had believed himself to be King Henry IV of Germany. A group of his friends, led by his nephew and a doctor, came to Henry's castle to try to make him sane.

Bob Wagner starred in the lead role of Henry, Peggy Overman played his once-lover, Dave Westfall as Belcredi, a friend, Jeff Sparks as the doctor, and Darla Himmelheber as Frida, the daughter.

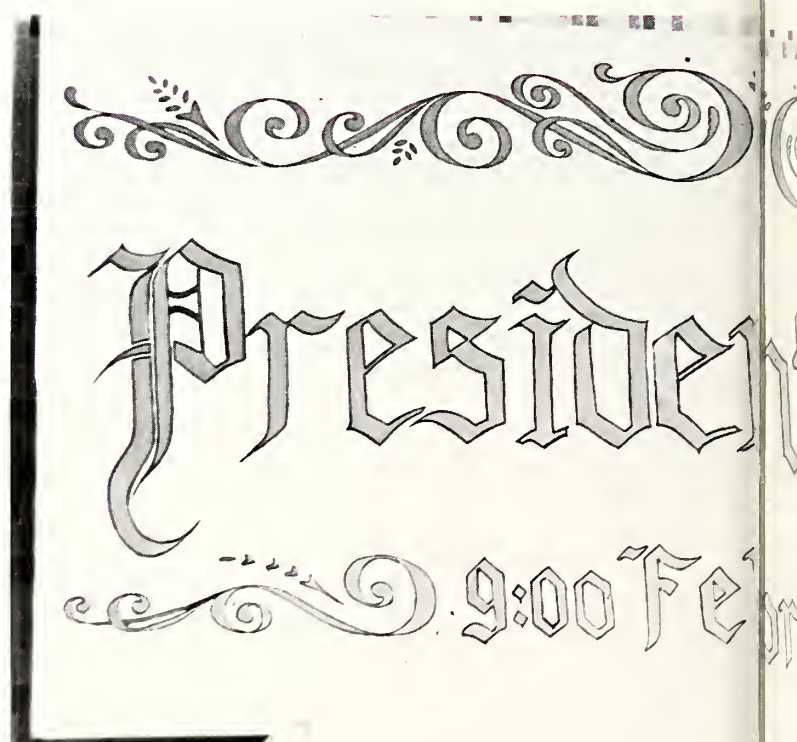

Ralph Rhodes directed the production, with Becky Guy as assistant director. The set was designed by Peggy Richards with most of the pieces reflecting the incongruity of the play.

Presidents Honored in Romantic Setting

Union Board sponsored the President's Ball again this year to honor campus presidents from the smallest group on campus to President Wallace B. Graves. The ball was held at Harper's Dining Center and provided an evening with a romantic setting in which to honor our leaders and an evening of fun for all others who attended.

Swimmers Win Conference With Underclassmen

It was a very good year for the '72 swim team. They compiled a 7-7 dual meet record against such powerhouses as Indiana University, Purdue, Vanderbilt, Air Force Academy and Florida State University. In conference, the Purple tankers were undefeated and walked away with all the honors in a one-sided conference meet.

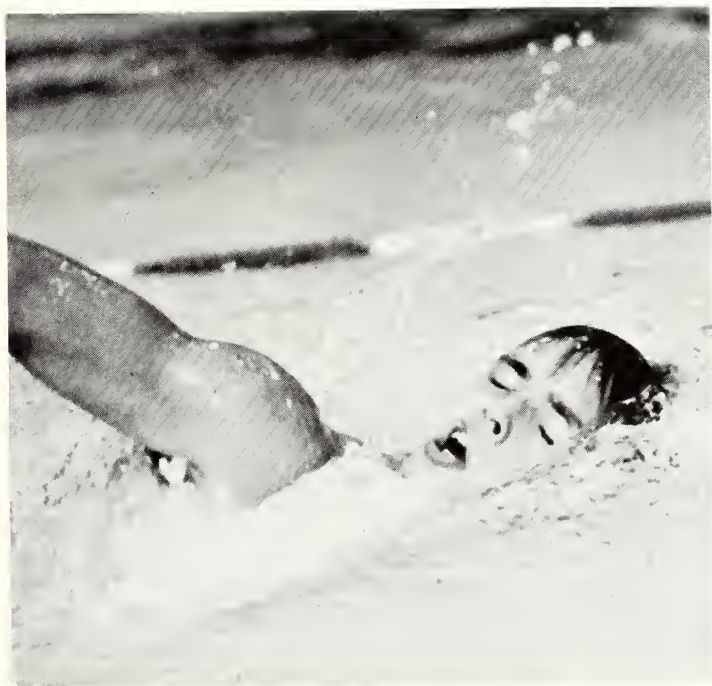

In the first event of the conference meet, the 500 yd. freestyle, Evansville copped 5 of the first 6 places. They set 7 conference, 10 pool, and 4 varsity records, outdistancing 2nd place Valpo by over 120 points.

The swim team qualified 10 men for the NCAA small college finals held at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. Bill Bruns brought back All-American honors with his first place performance in the 200 yd. butterfly with a time of 2:01 flat. Evansville's three entries in the diving competition placed 14, 18, and 22 respectively out of 70 competitors.

Aces Breeze to Undefeated Crown

An undefeated conference championship, victories of SIU and Indiana State, and a berth in the '72 NCAA Great Lakes Regional were just some of the highlights of a spectacular season that saw the Aces fall short of a consecutive national championship.

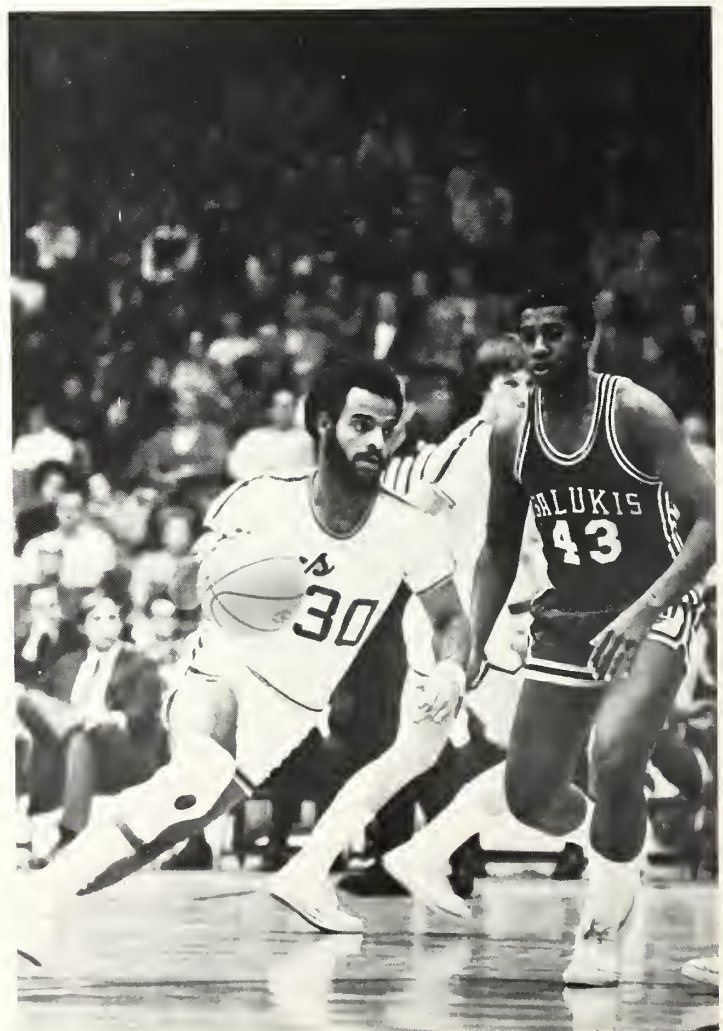

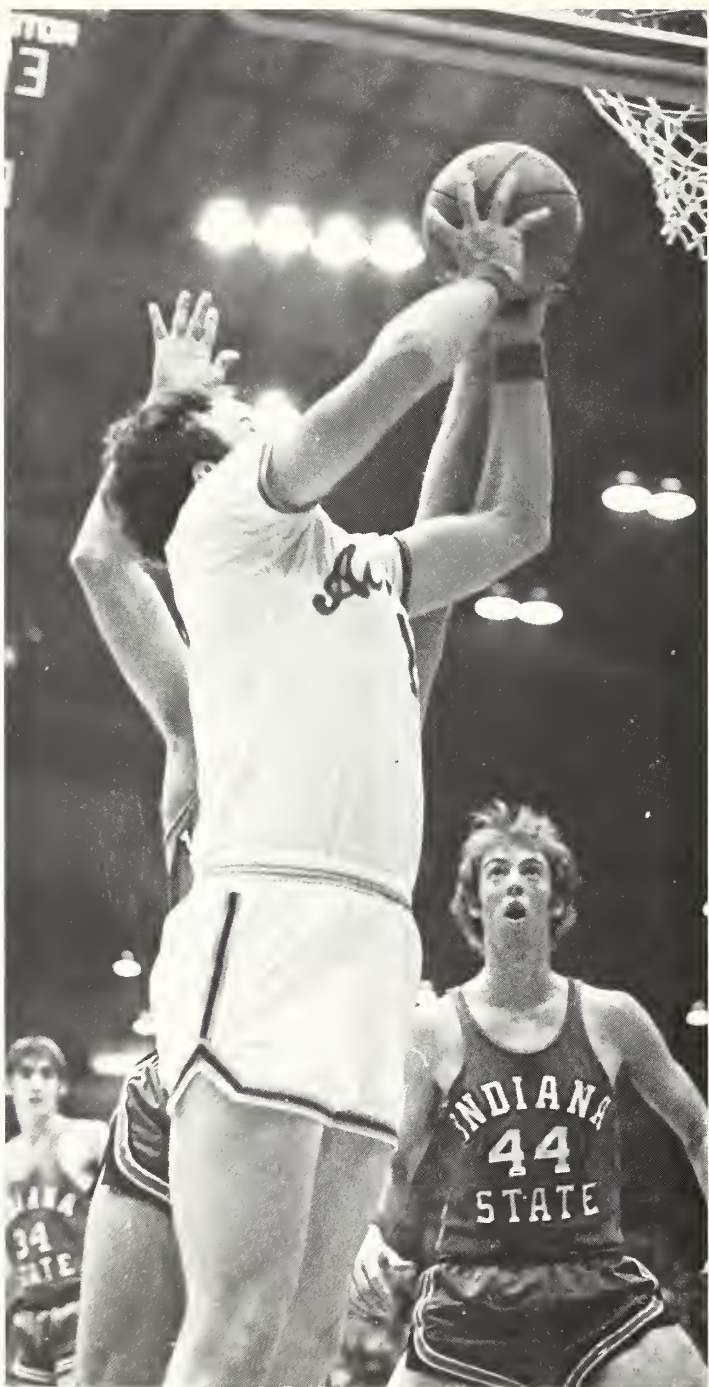

The Purples piled up a 22-6 overall mark as they averaged 90.8 points during the regular season and passed the 100-point plateau in nine games. Leading the Aces were seniors Don Buse and Steve Welmer.

Welmer led in scoring with a 17.5 average, rebounding with a 10.5 average, and in field goal accuracy with a .627 percentage. Buse maintained a 16.3 average during the year and passed former Aces great Jerry Sloan to become the Aces third all-time leading scorer.

The Purples started the season strongly with victories over Assumption and Kentucky Wesleyan, but lost two during a disastrous west coast tour against Seattle Pacific and Weber State.

One of the more satisfying victories of the season came at the expense of the Southern Illinois Salukis at Carbondale. All kinds of records were set in that game, which the Aces took 113-105. It was the most points scored against the Salukis on their home floor, and the most points scored by two teams in the arena. The Aces Steve Welmer also broke a record in the game. The Whale's game high 29 points made him the 15th player in Evansville history to score over 1000 career points.

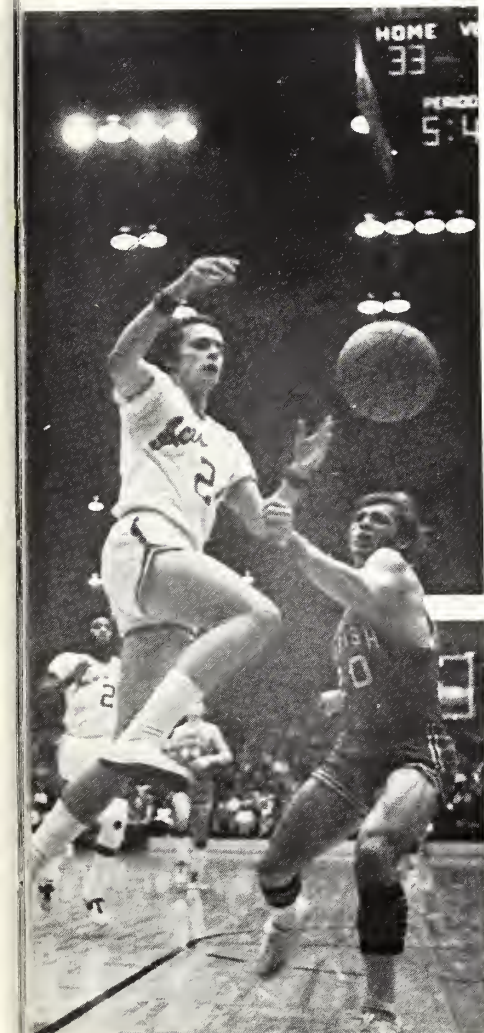

During the season, the Aces played 12 games against University Division teams and fared well, winning 8 and losing 4. The other regular season loss came at the hands of College Division Seattle Pacific who later made it to the West Regional at Pueblo, California.

The Aces kept building up momentum on their way to the Great Lakes Regional. They carried an 11-game winning streak into the Regional. The conference championship race went down to the final game when the Purples met the St. Joseph Pumas at Rensselaer. Evansville was undefeated while the Pumas had only one loss. A fired-up St. Joe crowd sat silently after the game as the Aces came from behind to win 100-94 and finish with a perfect 8-0 slate.

The Aces became known as a real contender during the second half of the season by their never-give-up style of play.

Many writers covering the Purples during the year contended the Aces were a better team when they were behind than when they were ahead.

Evansville's 22-6 overall record gave coach McCutchan a 433-295 overall record over 25 seasons to rank him as one of the top coaches in the College Division.

NCAA Regionals '72

Evansville's unbeaten conference championship earned them a berth in the '72 Great Lakes Regional. Their opponents in the first game Wittenberg, proved to be a well-drilled team as they led throughout much of the game. With ten minutes left, the Aces were down 64-56. Don Buse led a barrage which included 13 straight Evansville points to put the Aces ahead to stay 75-67 with 2:51 remaining to play. The Purples were winners, 81-73, and moved on to the title game against the Eastern Michigan Hurons.

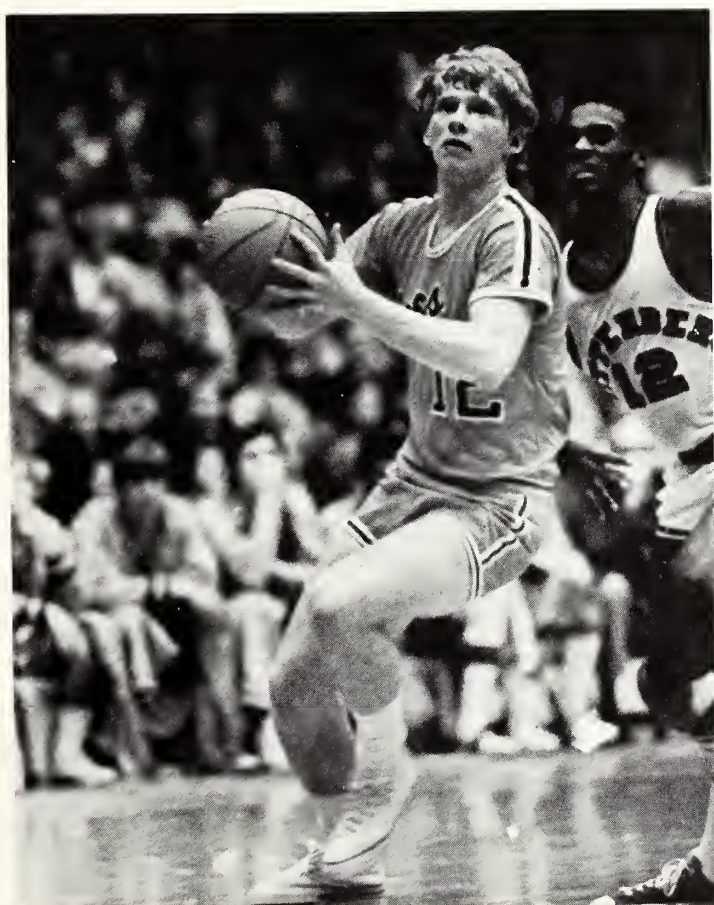

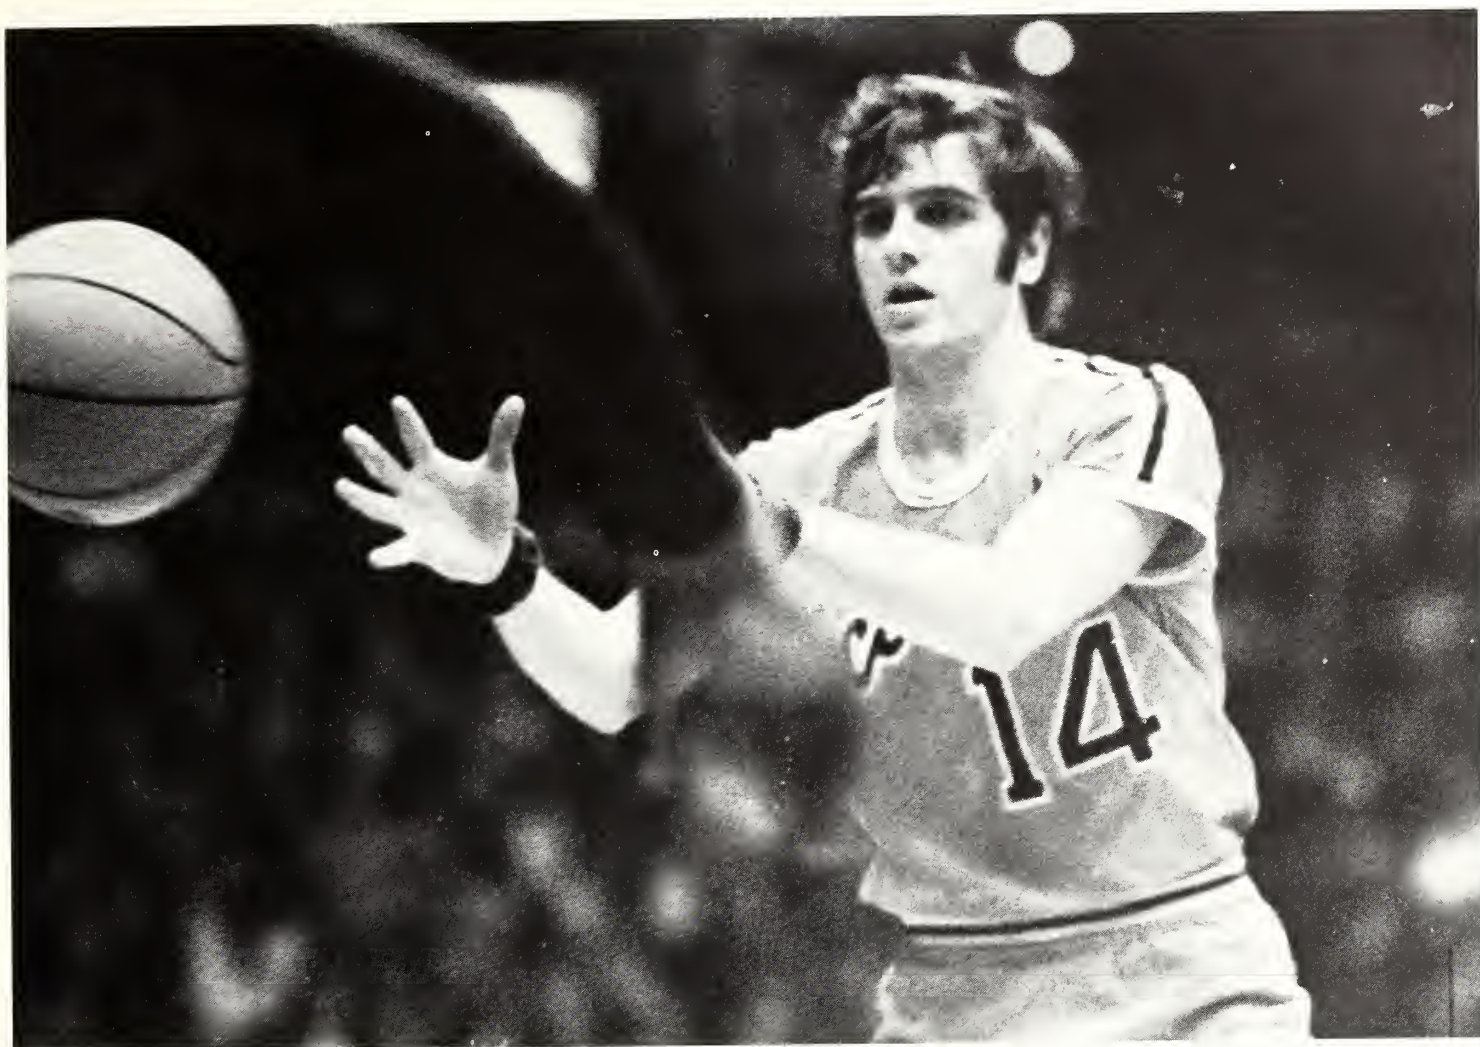

The Hurons were up, 71-59, with 11:43 left, but the Aces brought the crowd to their feet with eight straight points and a 14-4 burst to come within two at 75-73. The Hurons pulled away again behind the tremendous shooting of sophomore sensation George Gerwin, 81-75, but five quick tallies by the Aces made it 81-80. The Hurons won 93-88 to break a 12-game Evansville winning streak.

The Aces were well represented on the All-Tourney team. Center Steve Welmer and guard Don Buse were both elected to the elite squad by the sports media covering the tournament.

"Never in the field of human conflict, was so much owed by so many to so few." Wrestling coach Nick Voris borrowed those words to thank his team for their outstanding efforts during the season. Indeed, the squad is aptly described as "so few". They went through the year with only six wrestlers, several short of a complete squad. The team record of 2 wins and 7 losses reflects the fact that the squad had to forfeit points in every meet because of a lack of wrestlers.

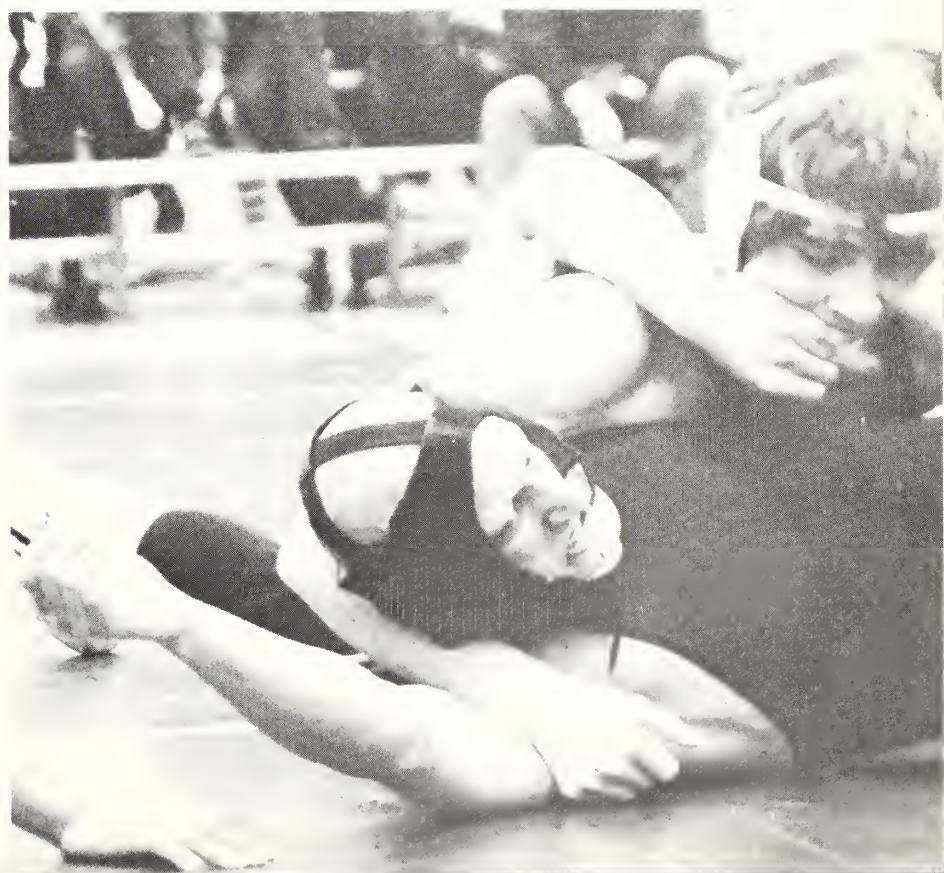

In the conference meet, senior heavyweight Steve Ierardi took first in his division. Ron Read copped third in the 190-pound slot as did Henry Gora in the 134-pound class. In the 118-pound division, Mike Santorelli notched a second. Gene Scott took fourth place honors in the 142-pound category.

The theme of this year's Musical Madness was "Have You Heard the One About . . ." and five groups tried to complete the phrase.

New Unit and Hughes Hall combined efforts with "479-2809" as their central theme.

"Mortuary Madness" was presented by Brentano Hall. The mortician was supposedly Wallace B. Graves.

Phi Mu and Tau Kappa Epsilon also combined talents to present "The Bootie Bandit." The skit was about a lovesick baby.

"The Rainbow," presented by Alpha Omicron Pi, was a fantasy about a little girl searching for a pot of gold.

The final skit, "Louise's Place," by Zeta Tau Alpha, dealt with the law of prohibition.

Zeta Tau Alpha was awarded the best skit award for both the single and overall competition. Phi Mu and Tau Kappa Epsilon received first place in the doubles competition, and Beth Horstman of Alpha Omicron Pi was chosen best director.

The final production of the year for the University Theatre Department was "Dark of the Moon."

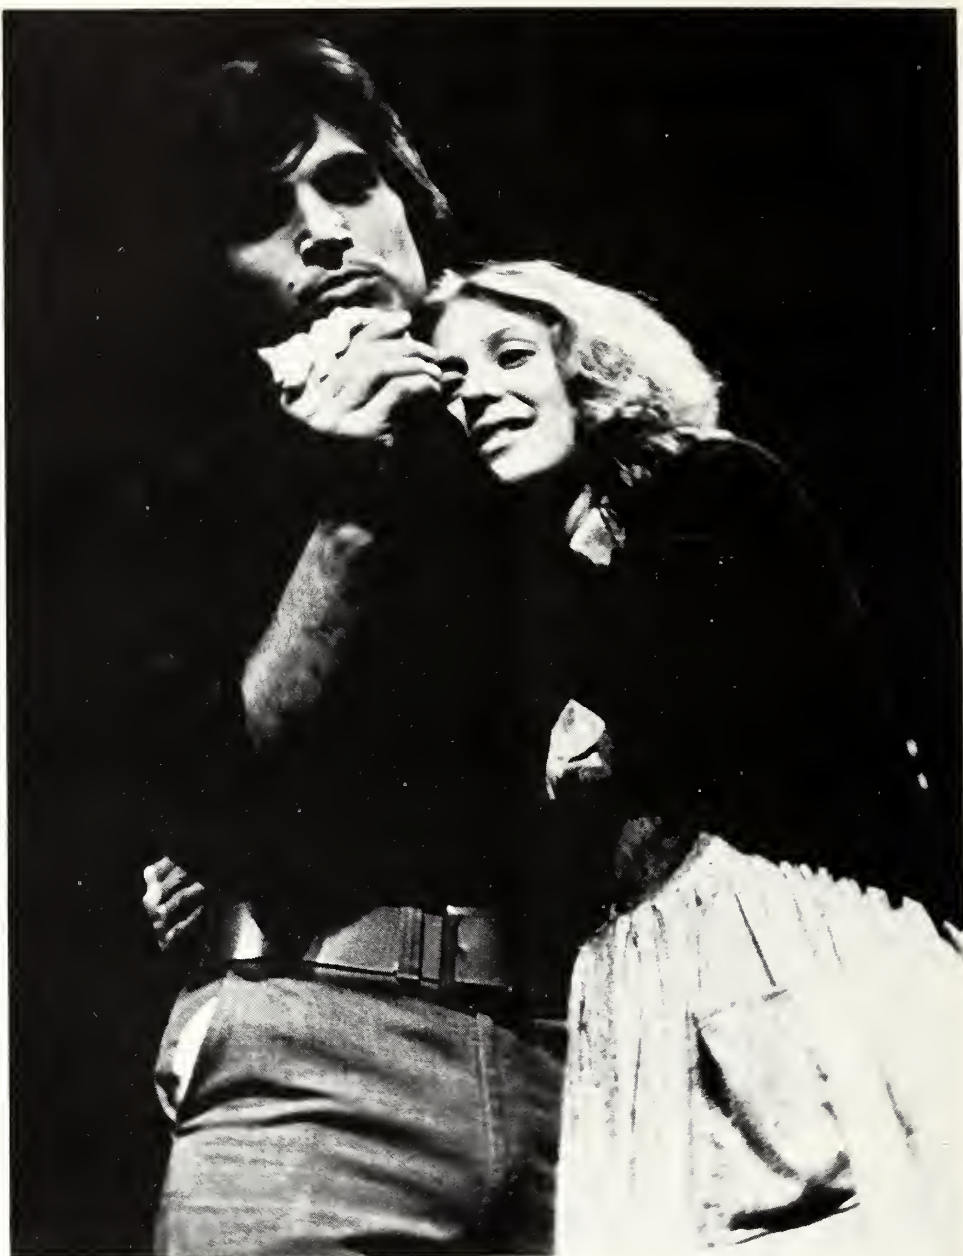

Mark Williams held the male lead as John the witch boy, and Liz Wagner played his human wife, Barbara Allen.

The plot was centered around these two people as John tried to become a human, because he had fallen in love with Barbara. She had become pregnant by him, and they went to get married, but she did not know that he was a witch. John went to the Conjur Man, played by Chuck Bateman, who offered him a deal. The deal was that Barbara Allen was to remain faithful to him for a year. John was constantly being seduced by the two witch girls, Marsha Morris and Barbara Carroll.

After the baby of the two lovers was born a witch, the people of the town forced Barbara Allen to repent for her sin. She refused to repent, and was raped by her once lover, Marvin Hudgens, played by Bill Goulet. John was then forced to become a witch again, because Barbara Allen was unfaithful to him.

Other leads were held by Bob Wagner as Mr. Allen, Marilyn Williams as Mrs. Allen, and Bill Nesmith as Uncle Smellicue.

"Dark of the Moon" was directed by John David Lutz, with the scenery and lighting designed by Ralph Rhodes.

Wednesday, May 17, Student Association declared political awareness day.

The purpose was to present to the students, faculty and administration a variety of viewpoints concerning the war in Vietnam, and politics in general.

The chief speaker was Finley Campbell, a Peace and Freedom Party candidate for governor of Indiana. He called for some "people's politics" to wrest control of the nation away from the "elitists" during his speech.

Other speakers included Dr. Don Richardson, a U of E professor, Brother Richard of the city Volunteer Action Corps, Beth Burlingame of the women's lib movement, and Father Meny, a local priest.

The attendance was facilitated by the SA calling for a boycott of classes.

About 100 students, faculty, and administrators attended the political awareness day held in the circle.

Political Awareness Day During Spring Week

Friday, May 19, contests and games were held at Audubon Park in Kentucky. Classes had been called off so that many of the students were able to attend. Harper's even brought lunch for the students who were able to spend the whole day at the park.

After lunch the games began with the dizzy pole races which were won by ROTC and Moore Hall. Phi Mu and Phi Kappa Tau were the most successful in building their pyramids, and the tug-o-war was won by Zeta Tau Alpha and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Individual trophy winners were Larry McDowell of TKE for the balloon-swatting contest and Rick Meyer of Hughes Hall for the pie-eating contest.

Thursday, May 18, Alexander Productions presented a concert featuring Jorge Santana and Malo.

Approximately 1200 people filled the Evansville Coliseum to listen to the sounds of Malo and their famed song "Suavecito." Free beer had been advertised, but due to a law preventing alcoholic beverages from being given out free, policemen were required to check ID's.

Friday, May 19, 2000 fans listened to the sounds of Neil Diamond.

From the time Neil Diamond walked onto the stage at Robert's Stadium to the time he left, the audience was caught up in the sounds he produced.

The audience was accompanying that great artist in spirit while he performed his dozen songs and three encores.

Debbie Jensen — Miss U of E

Tuesday, May 16, seven girls competed for the title of Miss University of Evansville.

Miss Debbie Jensen was selected as the fifth Miss U of E on the basis of beauty, talent, and poise. Miss Jensen is a freshman from Nashville, Tennessee, majoring in elementary education.

Bev Knight was first runnerup, and Darla Himmelheber was second. Judy Roberts was named Miss Congeniality.

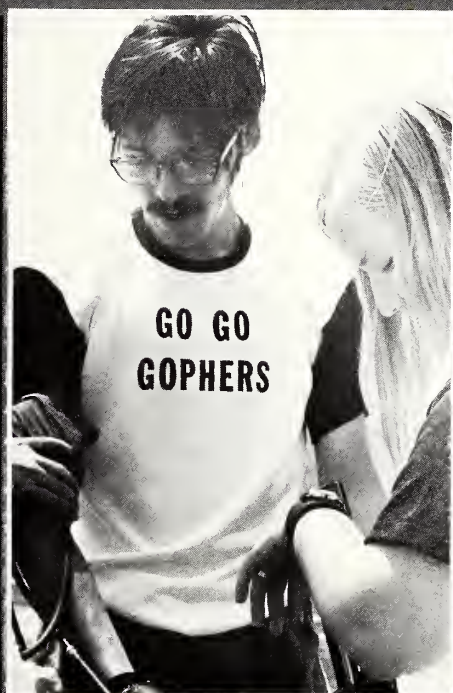

Miss Jensen was crowned by Miss Vicki Cook, last year's Miss U of E.

Lambda Chi Alpha Wins Again

Saturday, May 20, the 9th annual Big 39 Bike Race was held at Carson Center. Lambda Chi Alpha again took 1st place with a time of 2:08:48, which is their 8th win in nine tries. Hughes Hall finished second, Lambda Chi Alpha team # 2 took third, Sigma Phi Epsilon was fourth, and ROTC placed fifth.

The team riders for the winning Lambda Chi Alpha team were Geoff Gooch, Rick Fulmer, Chuck Sallee, and Doug Raeburn.

The girl's trike team races were also held on Saturday behind Carson Center. Alpha Omicron Pi took 1st place, Moore Hall placed second, Alpha Omicron Pi team two was third, and Phi Mu finished fourth.

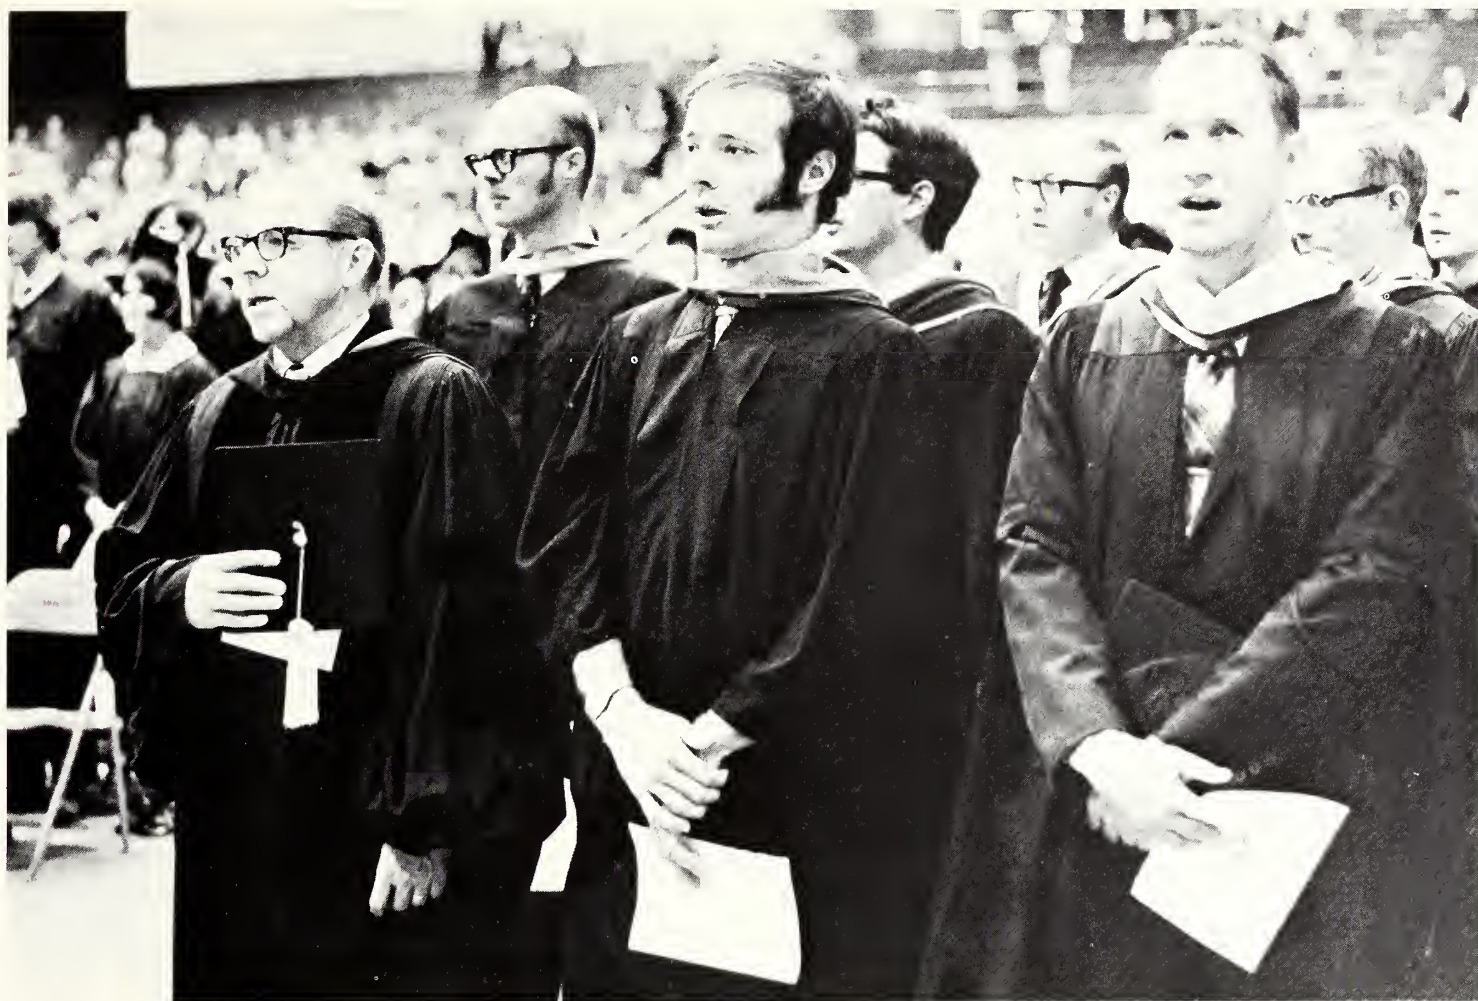

The riders for Alpha Omicron Pi were Marcia Raeber, Pam Allen, Jayne DeCourcy and Yvonne Short.

Roberts Stadium Echoes Graduation

The graduation of the class of 1972 was highlighted by Mayor Russell G. Lloyd of Evansville delivering the commencement address. Graduation was held on June 11 at Robert's Stadium.

Mayor Lloyd addressed graduates, parents, friends and faculty with his speech "Youth and the Urban Crisis."

Over 800 students in the 144th commencement exercise were candidates for bachelor's, master's and associate degrees.

Honorary Doctor of Law degrees were also conferred upon William H. Miller, Vanderburgh County Circuit Court judge and Dr. Gene E. Sease, president of Indiana Central College.

UEI'S, TKE, Best in Sports

Tau Kappa Epsilon and the University of Evansville Independents are the Intramural champs in men's and women's sports respectively. The TKE's started early by copping the the football championship and winning all but four sport championships all year.

ROTC copped two first-place honors by winning the cross country championship and the swimming meet. Hughes Hall won the track meet, while the only other group to upset the TKE's was Phi Kappa Tau by winning the volleyball championship. Hughes Hall won the Improvement Trophy and Lambda Chi Alpha won the Sportmanship Award.

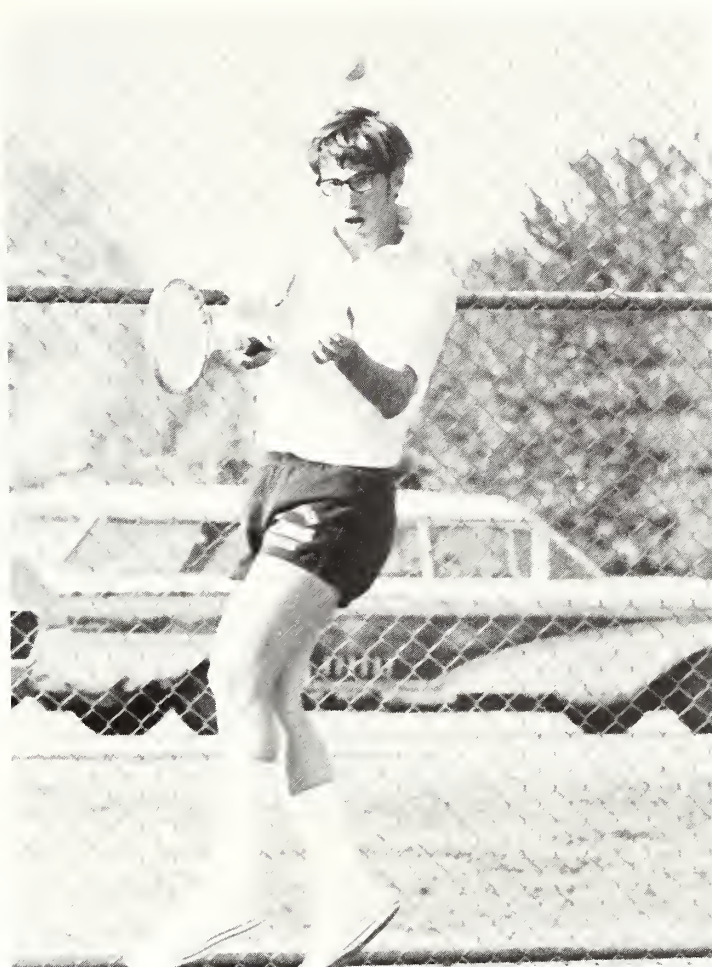

In women's intramurals, the UEI's easily outdistanced their nearest competitor, Zeta Tau Alpha, by almost 300 points to claim the women's All-Sports Trophy. The race for third place was more of a battle with only 21 points separating the 2nd through 4th place finishers. For the Ladies, Alpha Omicron Pi won the Sportsmanship award with Brentano voted most improved.

Baseball at Evansville is growing and getting better all the time. A 14-17-1 record isn't the greatest, but a closer look at it shows there is promise in the U of E baseball program.

This year, for the first time, the squad opened the season with a southern road trip that proved to be disastrous. They returned home without a win and ran their record to 0-8-1 before notching a victory. From that point, though, the team compiled a respectable 14-9 record with a squad dominated by underclassmen.

Junior hurler Mark Britner led the mound corps with a 4-4 record and a 3.17 E.R.A. Mike Piechocki led the regulars in hitting with a solid .337 mark, while Steve Welmer and Steve Meadors led in conference hitting with .429 averages. For the third year in a row, Welmer was chosen to the "All ICC" squad. Junior second baseman Meadors was chosen by his teammates as the team's "Most Valuable Player." Under the direction of coach and ex-minor leaguer Wayne Boultinghouse, the outlook for UE baseball is good.

Trackmen Go Their Distance, Despite Injuries

The track team did well, despite injuries that put some track men out of action for long periods of time. Jerry Knight, a man coach Dave Beckman counted on heavily at the beginning of the season, was out for the entire schedule with a pulled hamstring muscle.

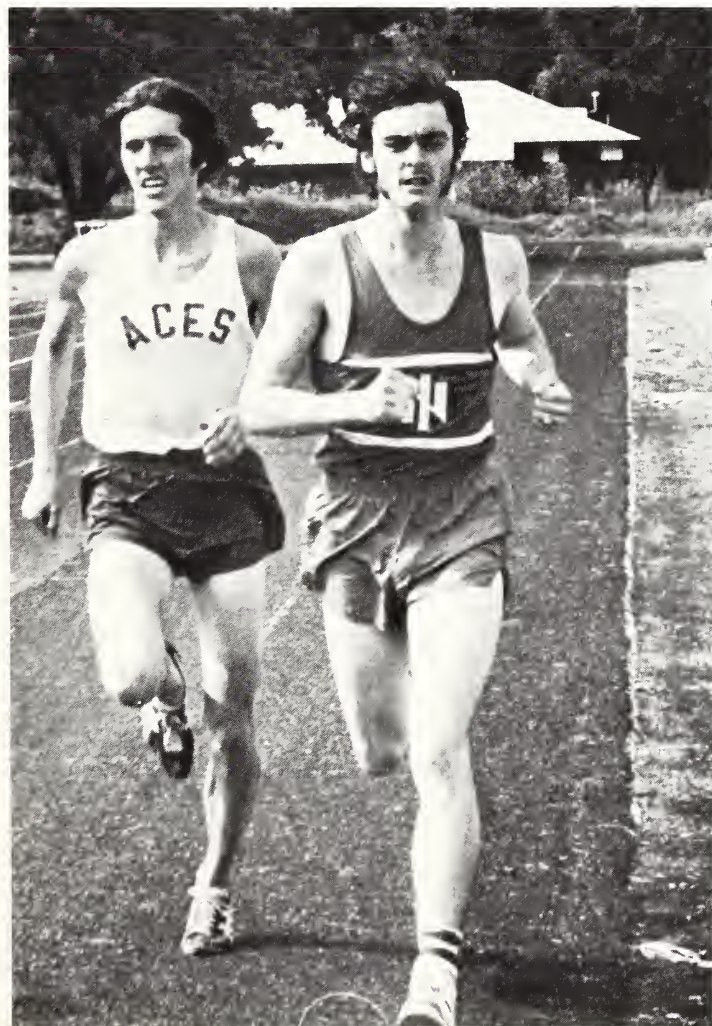

Marvin Cooper paced the squad, setting records in the 100-yard dash with a time of 9.8 seconds and in the 220-yard dash, which Cooper won in the conference meet, with a clocking of 22.4 seconds.

Another steady performer for the team was junior Randy Mattingly who took a 5th place in the conference meet throwing the javelin.

The squad's 440-yard relay team also set a record with a 42.3 second clocking. Members of the team are Marvin Cooper, Bob Koehl, Bob Barnett, and Jeff Willoughby.

Netmen Finish 7-2

According to tennis coach James Voorhees, this year's tennis team was the best in the last 10 years. The squad won 7 dual meets while losing only 2. In the conference meet, they finished 3rd with 22 points, behind 2nd place Valpo with 23 and 2 points behind conference winner Butler with 24 points in the meet.

Next year's squad should be even better because the team loses no seniors. Of the 7 men on the team, 4 are freshmen, so the future looks very bright in tennis.

In the # 2 Doubles Division, Dave Kersey and Mike Ebin took first place honors in the conference meet. Kersey was also Little State Champ in the # 3 division singles.

Some of the team's victories were over Michigan Tech, The University of Missouri, Indiana Central and Kentucky Wesleyan, who fell to our netmen twice this past season.

As Golfers Post 17-12 Mark

The 1972 golf squad from the University of Evansville finished with one of its best records ever with a 15-win 8-loss record in dual meets and a 17-12 slate overall.

Kent Miller was the season's low medalist, while Al Paulus and Scott Schrode were voted the most improved members of the team.

The lowest score for 18 holes came from Miller with a 71. The team loses only two seniors this year with the bulk of the squad returning next year. Kent Miller and Rich Spilker will be the two lost through graduation.

According to golf coach Nick Voris, the team defeated everyone on its schedule at least one time. One of their first finest performances came in the NAIA districts where they defeated ISUE by 7 strokes. With 10 golfers returning to competition next year, things can only improve.

Gillian Makes Eating

“Different”

Harper Residence Dining Center became more than a mere “mess hall” to the several hundred students who ate there each day. Through the magic touch of Jim Gillian, the dining center took on different atmospheres throughout the year. Resident students sipped milk shakes and ate foot-long hot dogs and french fries while laughing over old Laurel and Hardy movies as part of a “Drive-In Movie” night. Other features of the year included an “Ox Roast” in a Western setting, a black fashion show, a preview of a student-sponsored pops concert, and music provided by other student groups. Earlier in the year, some industrious students tried to guess the number of beans in a pot; the winner received two tickets to see a production of “Jesus Christ Superstar,” courtesy of the dining center.

Kappa Alpha Psi

Community involvement was the emphasis for Kappa Alpha Psi this year. During the spring quarter, the fraternity sponsored the "Miss Black America" competition. Proceeds from a show and dance went for research on sickle cell anemia. The fraternity's annual spring formal was held in May. The Epsilon Iota chapter on the U of E campus was founded in 1963. The first Kappa Alpha Psi chapter in the country was founded in 1911 at Indiana University.

Two fraternity members proved to be vital to the sports world on campus this year. Irvin Graves, a sophomore from Indianapolis, saw action as a varsity member of the Aces' basketball squad. Despite an ankle injury suffered earlier in the year, Graves also grabbed honors for his efforts in the high jump division on the track team. Marvin Cooper, a sophomore from Washington, D.C., came on strong in track competition in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash areas. He also helped carry the baton for the Aces in the 440-yard relay department. Pat English was the fraternity's sweetheart.

Alpha Omicron Pi

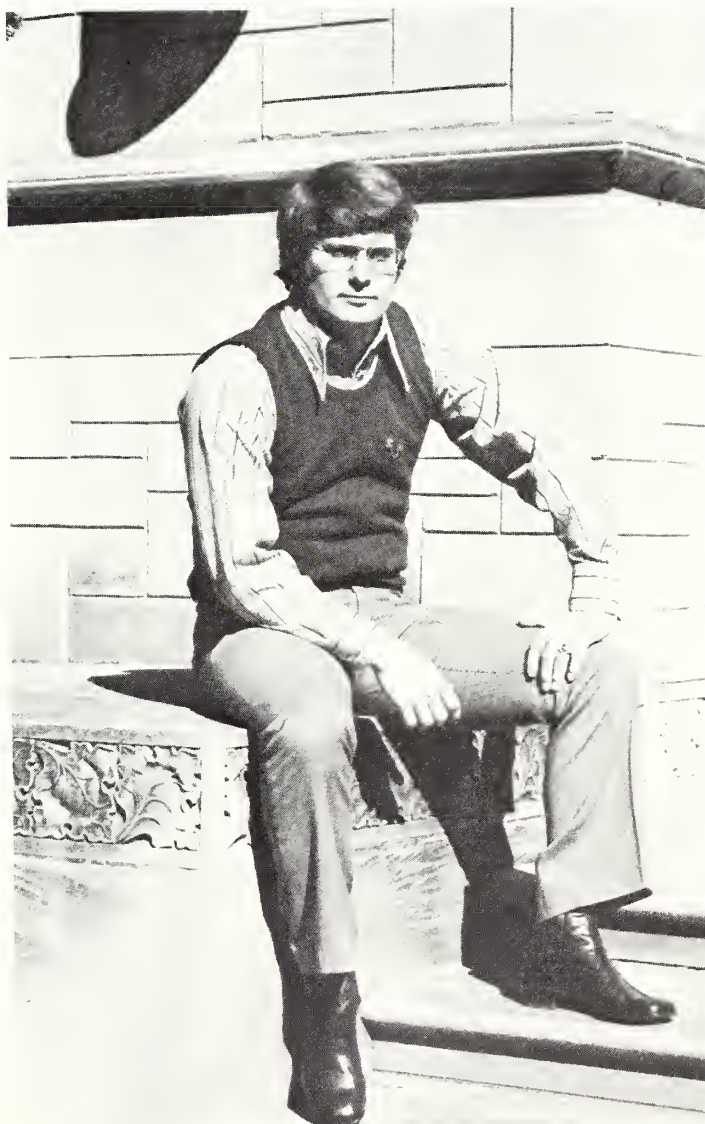

The grinning girls of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority had reason to grin this year; the Chi Lambda chapter on the U of E campus received a distinguished service award from national AOPi headquarters, naming it one of the top ten chapters in the country. Under the leadership of Becky Creech Nimnicht, members again played Jesse James and kidnaped students from various campus organizations, demanding "ransoms" of canned goods, later donated to needy people. AOPi Mary Prince was elected football homecoming queen. The sorority's homecoming display won second place. Western Union telegram service got competition on Valentine's Day when members provided "singing valentines." An audience at an old folks home in Evansville heard the AOPi's perform Christmas carols. Chapter members also collected money for cancer research on mice. Beth Horstman picked up the "best director" award for her efforts in directing the sorority's entry in the annual Musical Madness program at Harrison High School. Sally Gorman was general chairman of the musical-variety show. Madelyn Dawson was Lambda Chi Alpha sweetheart. Ric Carter, a senior from Hobart, Ind., was AOPi "favorite guy."

Lambda Chi Alpha

A color-wheel of activities revolved for Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity this year. The year got off to a good start with the fraternity's annual "Miss Watermelon Bust" competition. Many coeds lined up at the Lambda Chi house on Weinbach Avenue to see if they'd fit the form, but only Jeanne Runyon, a sophomore from Evansville, came way out in front of the others. The fraternity again sold christmas trees over the holidays. Members kept busy by working on their patio at their house, collecting for the March of Dimes, building a homecoming display and paving their driveway. In addition to their house on Weinbach, fraternity members maintained an annex behind their house, in which several brothers lived. The Lambda Chi's boasted the largest pledge classes on campus this year. Three members were the "favorite guys" for three sororities: Ric Carter with Alpha Omicron Pi, Bob Rogers with Chi Omega, and Bob Dillow with Phi Mu. Lambda Chi's active on campus were Chuck Stonehill, a member of the Student Congress and a past Interfraternity Council president; Mertice Shane, a student manager with the athletic department; and Bob Carithers, editor of The Crescent spring quarter. A host of other Lambda Chi's were active in sports this year. Fraternity sweetheart was Madelyn Dawson of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Chi Omega

The women of Chi Omega again proved that it's possible to combine fun, service and scholarship in a successful manner. Winning the prize for top homecoming display has almost become a tradition for the sorority; the group grabbed first place in the "unlimited" division again this year. Members collected canned goods for the needy as their Thanksgiving project. They also participated in "University Sing" and powderpuff football. They were among several local groups that hiked to Roberts Stadium to benefit the Cancer Society; for each mile they walked, ChiO's received a certain amount of money, which was later donated to the cancer group. During spring quarter, members held their annual formal at the Executive Inn and again conducted their annual ice cream social on the front lawn of the campus. ChiO pledges played host to a group of orphans, taking them to see a showing of the Walt Disney movie, "Song of the South." Three ChiO's were named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities"—Melissa Mason, Susie Gorman and Vicki Katterhenry. Bonnie McMasters and Vicki Rideout were named to Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic honorary. Bob Rogers, an art major from Evansville, was Chi Omega "favorite guy."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

After several years of bad luck with fires, the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon finally have a home again. During spring quarter, they saw their vacant lot—which had been the site of two previous fire-struck houses—become the location of a new house. The house boasts an English Tudor style of architecture. It includes a large chapter room with fireplace, formal living room, kitchen, and living accommodations for 15 to 20 fraternity brothers. Despite the fact that the house is new, at least one souvenir from the past remains—the old familiar SAE lion that still stands in front of the house. In addition to securing a new house, fraternity members were also innovative in other areas. They introduced a "progressive pledgeship," in which the traditional "Hell Week"—still vital to some fraternities—was eliminated. The fraternity again captured a Hawaiian atmosphere by sponsoring its annual luau. Members also pitched in to provide a homecoming display during football season. Among the SAE's active on campus were Mark Miller and Dan Agan, both drama majors who starred in several drama department productions this year. Miller also was the fraternity's candidate for Bachelor of the Year, and was on the staff of the campus radio station WEVC. Dark-haired Nancy Brown from Evansville was SAE sweetheart.

Phi Mu

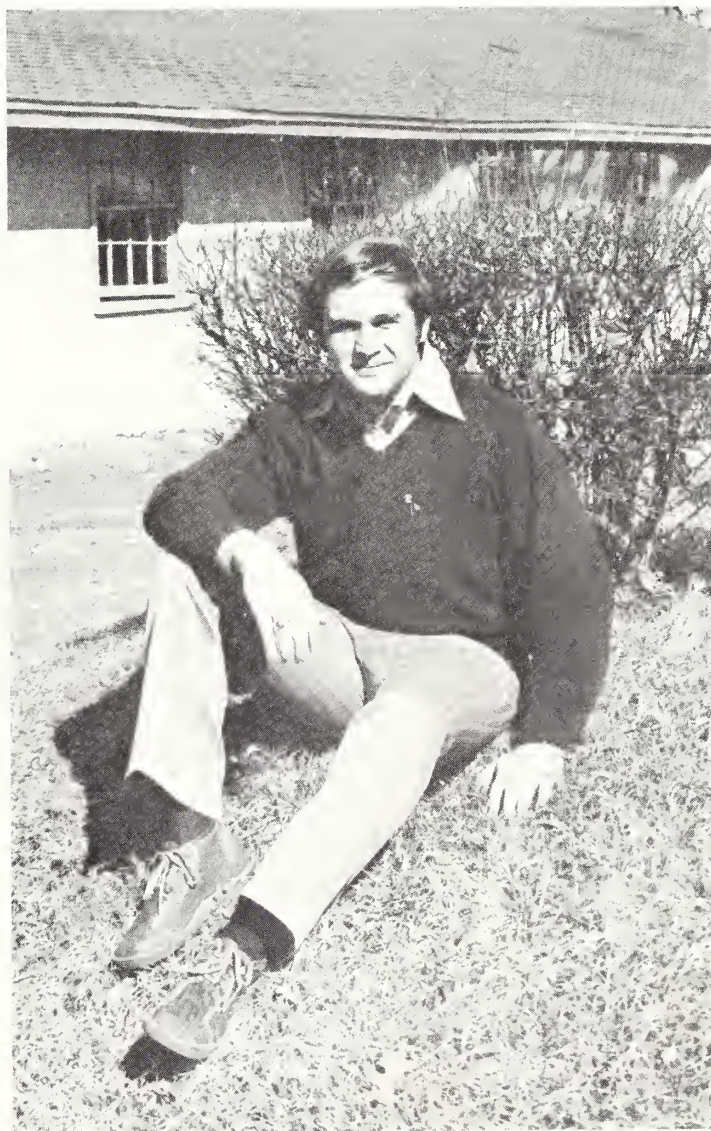

The women of Phi Mu ended up in second place in powder-puff football competition and also placed second in "Spirit Week" activities. Members again held their annual Christmas bazaar, with proceeds going to their philanthropic project, the U.S.S. Hope hospital ship. They also hosted their annual Faculty Tea and participated in "University Sing." The sorority teamed up with Tau Kappa Epsilon to win the group division honors in this year's Musical Madness. The combined entry was entitled "Have You Heard the One About the Bootie Bandit" and was co-directed by Phi Mu Bonnia Cook and TKE Jim Kibler. This year's pledge class entertained youngsters at a local orphanage. Sorority members held their annual Founders' Day Dinner in March with the alumni chapter. Phi Mu president Joli Treat was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" and to Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary. Bob Dillow of Lambda Chi Alpha was Phi Mu "favorite guy."

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon wouldn't be Sigma Phi Epsilon without the annual Sig Ep A-Go-Go. This year's go-go dance contest was again held at the fraternity's white frame house—which used to be a convent for the nuns who teach at neighboring Memorial High School—on Lincoln Avenue. The annual event is one of the first campus activities that greets students back to school each September. The year was also one of home improvements for the fraternity. Under the leadership of chapter president Tom Davis, a senior from Albion, Ill., fraternity members refurnished two rooms of their house by sponsoring a candy sale. Other new additions included a new ceiling for their house library and a new parking lot for house residents' cars. For their community service project, fraternity members collected money for the March of Dimes. Sig Eps also volunteered to do civic work by doing clean-up work, yard work and other miscellaneous jobs at the homes of private individuals in Evansville. J.D. Joergens was Sig Ep candidate for Bachelor of the Year. Brown-haired Sandy Grossheim, this year's basketball homecoming queen and a member of the fraternity's sister affiliate, the Girls of the Golden Heart, was Sig Ep sweetheart.

Zeta Tau Alpha

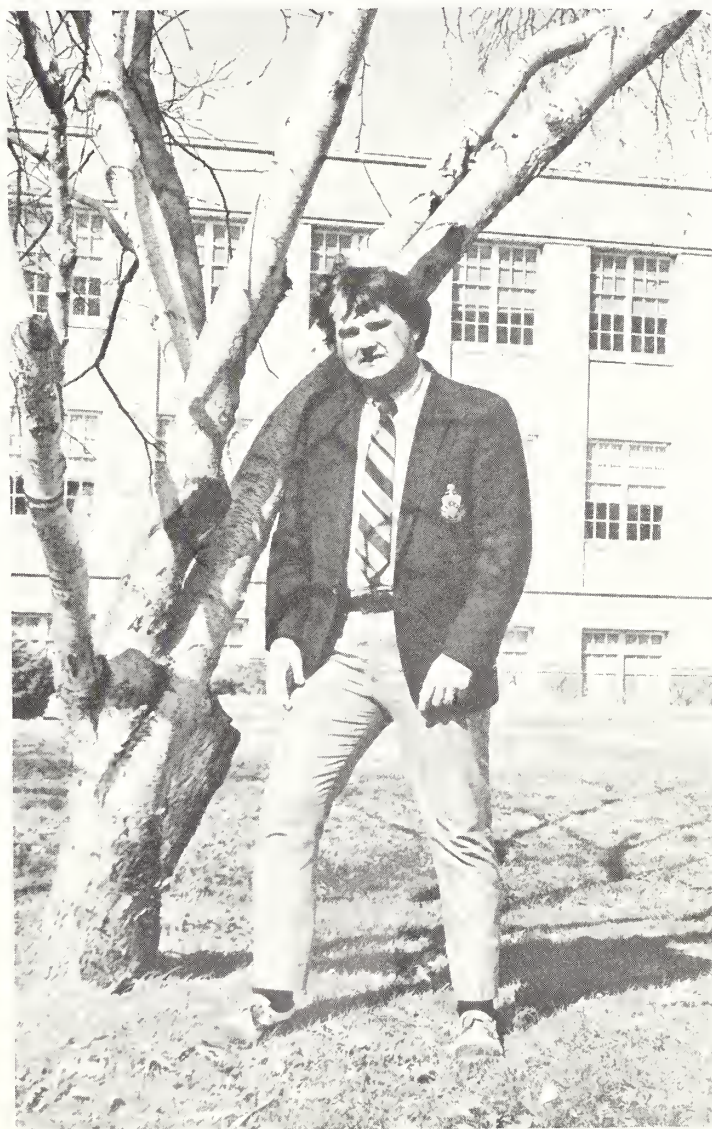

The female proprietor of a speak-easy and her naive boyfriend-policeman helped the women of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority walk off with the top honors at this year's annual Musical Madness program at Harrison High School in Evansville. The sorority's winning skit was entitled "Have You Heard the One About Louise's Place." The original skit was set in Prohibition days and was about the female proprietor of a speak-easy, trying to hide her profession from her boyfriend, a policeman. The effort won ZTA both the single group and overall competition honors. Sorority members sponsored their "Campus Capers" carnival, with proceeds going to the Rehabilitation Center in Evansville. Members participated in "University Sing," collected for the March of Dimes and won top honors in the women's intramural pingpong and tennis divisions. ZTA pledges tutored mentally retarded and handicapped persons at the East Side Christian Church. Danielle Leftwich, a member of the Student Congress, was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Lana Turner was named to Cap and Gown women's honorary and was president of Kappa Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary. Jenny Maier was Phi Kappa Tau sweetheart, Kathy Lappe was Panhellenic president, Greg Wilson was ZTA "favorite guy."

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity members actively participated in intramural sports, public service projects and in various campus organizations and activities. In intramural sports, they were undefeated in football and basketball, and finished second in cross country, swimming and volleyball. Members collected over $250 for the Vanderburgh County Heart Association at the Iowa State-Evansville basketball game at Roberts Stadium. A door-to-door collection for the March of Dimes yielded over $90. The TKEs also played host to 16 local orphans, taking them to the Evansville-DePauw basketball game and giving them a tour of their house afterwards. A Boy Scout troop met weekly at the TKE house. TKEs were also active in campus organizations. Working with the student government were Mike Berg, Vice-President of Student Services; Jeff McDaniel, Vice-President of Student Activities; and Tom Megar, student congressman. For the second year in a row, a TKE was named Bachelor of the Year. This year's winner was Jon David LeClere. Steve Allred was Interfraternity Council president. TKE sweetheart was Carol Martin, a speech and drama major from South Bend, Ind.

Phi Kappa Tau

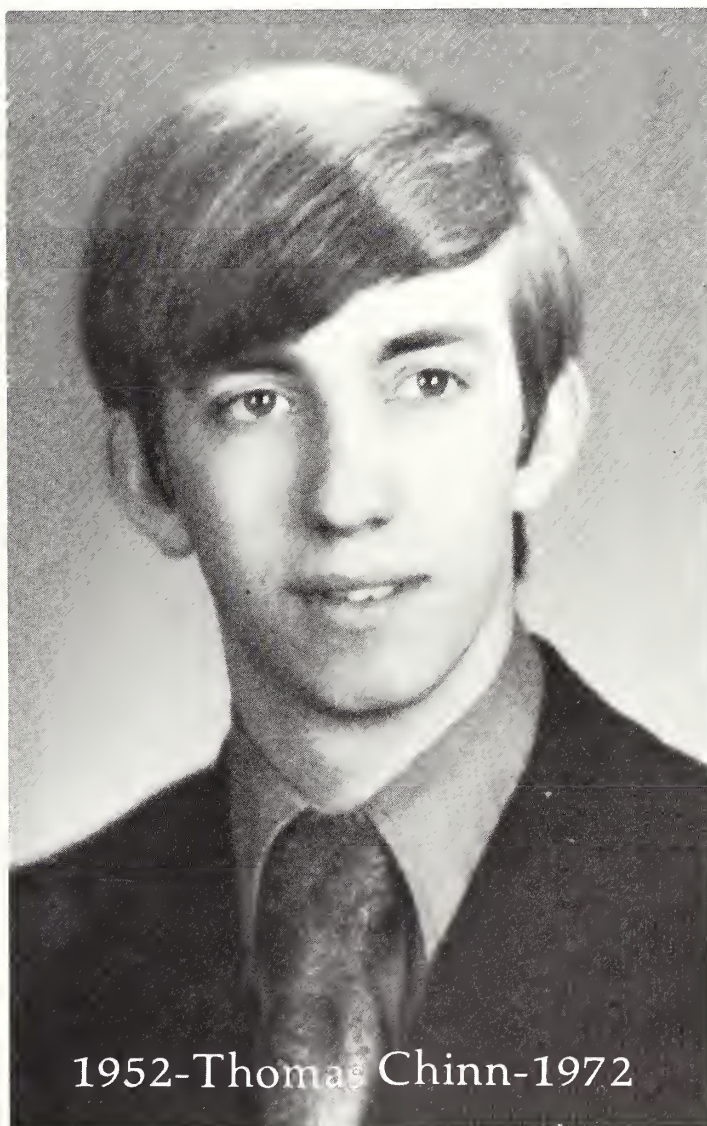

Even though it's the youngest fraternity on campus, Phi Kappa Tau again held its own this year among the other fraternities on campus that have been here for years. On a national level, the fraternity was founded in 1906; at the University of Evansville, however, the Delta Beta chapter was not born until 1968. The year started out with the fraternity's annual road rally and beach party. For their volunteer work, members collected for the March of Dimes and helped finance an Indian child's way through grade school. Phi Tau's also scored well in intramural sports this year. They grabbed first place in volleyball, second in swimming, and third place in football. Rob Hons, who was the fraternity's candidate for Bachelor of the Year, and Dan Kneer were Interfraternity Council officers this year. Kneer was also named to Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic honorary. Phi Tau president Greg Wilson was Zeta Tau Alpha "favorite guy." Jenny Maier, a junior from Haubstadt, Ind., was Phi Tau sweetheart.
